A Bible Marathon
No War Visible?
"Kill British, Japanese"
"All Ours," Canada

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1925, by Star Co.

AT EUCALPA, CAL., yesterday all members of the First Methodist Church witnessed the end of a Bible-reading Marathon. Starting Saturday at midnight, devoted church members began "In the beginning, God created the heaven and the earth," and sixty-nine and one-fourth hours later the Biblical Marathon ended with "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen."

IT WAS a noble reading, all out loud, every word distinctly pronounced. The pastor, the Rev. R. D. Raley, stayed awake and read or listened throughout the 69¼ hours.

More deliberate reading, especially of Job and Isaiah, would be preferable. But any Bible reading is better than none.

IN THIBET you can give a few coppers to a pagan priest with his prayer mill. You go your way comforted; he grinds out 10,000 prayers for you on his little mill.

Those prayers are believed to do good, although verbal praying from the heart may be better.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE says no war in which we could be involved is visible on the horizon. That's good news. But if war comes, it will be just a little ABOVE the horizon, and you will see the airships, dim and gray and high up, come flying.

A LITTLE cloud, about the size of a monoplane wing, shows in the East. Chinese students were parading Pekin's streets denouncing the killing of strikers in Shanghai seeking to enter foreign legations and yelling: "Kill the British and Japanese."

THAT LAST is the reassuring word. Chinese hate the Japanese most, British next, Germans perhaps next. They don't hate us very much. And most of all, they hate JAPANESE.

From the Western white man's point of view that's the reassuring thing in Asia. The Asiatic always hates some other Asiatic worse than he hates any European. A really high spirited Mohammedan in India would rather kill three Hindus than one Briton any day.

IN CASE war through the air should come, we are not in any position to resist.

General Mitchell yesterday told New Jersey's commission on aviation that the United States is "organized for defeat" and "we have no United States air force either actually under the colors or provided for by law."

THAT CONDITION, which undoubtedly exists, interests the President. And his belief that there is no WAR on the horizon will not diminish his interest in the importance of having a few American fighting planes on the horizon, enough of them to inspire respect in other countries.

CHARLES STEWART, Canadian Minister of Interior, says Canada claims all lands right up to the North Pole, and is now establishing her "rights to all those lands."

You might say, offhand, that while the swinging of the poles will make lands at the North Pole fertile and warm in about 17,000 years, we need not get excited about things that won't happen until the year 18,925.

BUT CANADA'S claim might not be so distant. John D. Rockefeller has already "proved" good oil wells inside the Arctic Circle. It wouldn't pay to bring down the oil by present methods. A pipe line would cost $50,000,000.

But tomorrow a way may be found to transport electricity long distances without loss of current.

Then owners of those North Pole lands might burn the oil up there, change it into electric power, send it south along a copper wire. And power is worth as much as gold. Perhaps the Canadians know it.

2 MALDEN HIGH GIRLS BARE THEIR RUNAWAY MARRIAGES IN CLASS

Edla Charlotte Bylin and Olive D. Coleman, the two leading romancers of Malden High School, will be graduated from the school in a fortnight or so, but it won't be under those names.

In the interim between the fourth class in zoology and metaphysics III. today, Edla and Olive, collaborating on blushes, figured that as long as their elopements would have to leak out sometime, they might as well spring them right away.

And so they did!

Edla's husband is George MacDon-

'SCRATCHED FACE MAN' SEEN ON TROLLEY CAR

A man with a scratched face who boarded a Grove Hall car at West Newton street early Sunday morning and two men living in a Massachusetts avenue lodging house were hunted by the police today in investigating the murder of Mrs. Mary Price in the Hotel Hollis.

According to the police informer, the two lodging house men have been keeping close to their room all day and going out furtively at night to buy all the newspapers.

Special Officers Harrison and Condon have been assigned to hunt down the scratched-faced man who boarded the trolley at 2 a. m.

A gay party staged in a room of the hotel a few hours before Mrs. Price was slain is another important clew on which the police are working.

The son of a Boston politician, a

KIRBY FEARED DEATH CHAIR IN NEW YORK

Augusta, Me., June 4.—Abject terror at the prospect of standing trial for murder in New York State, where the electric chair, yawned for him if convicted, led Harry Kirby to confess to the slaying of Aida Hayward, in a cottage he occupied on the shore of Lake Maranacook.

The life term in prison, provided by the laws of Maine for a capital crime, appealed to Kirby as a sanctuary through which he would cheat the electric chair, for the slaying of a young girl inmate of a school for the feeble-minded, at Nyack.

This is the belief held by the Maine authorities, after Kirby's voluntary confession that he choked Miss Hayward to death, after he had shot Mrs. Annie Towns, aunt of Miss Hayward, and burned down the cottage the two women occupied.

From the time Kirby was first ar-

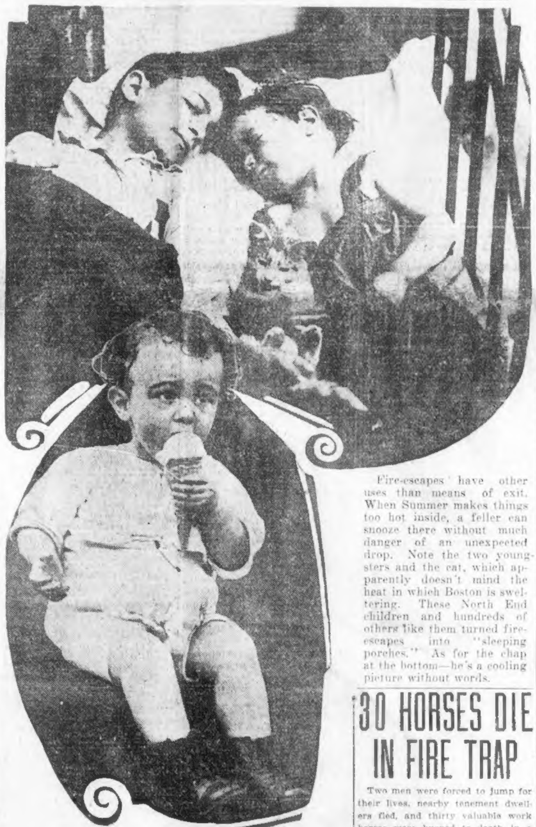
NORTH END'S 'SLEEPING PORCH'



Fire-escapes have other uses than means of exit. When Summer makes things too hot inside, a feller can snooze there without much danger of an unexpected drop. Note the two youngsters and the cat, which apparently doesn't mind the heat in which Boston is sweltering. These North End children and hundreds of others like them turned fire-escapes into "sleeping porches." As for the chap at the bottom—he's a cooling picture without words.

FLAMMARION, NOTED ASTRONOMER IS DEAD

Paris, June 4 (I.N.S.).—Camille Flammarion, the famous French astronomer and author, died today at Juvisy, where he was head of the observatory, according to the newspaper La Liberte. He was eighty-three years old.

Flammarion, one of the greatest astronomers of the century, was best known for his repeated assertions that Mars is inhabited. He founded the Astronomical Society of France in 1887.

30 HORSES DIE IN FIRE TRAP

Two men were forced to jump for their lives, nearby tenement dwellers fled, and thirty valuable work horses were burned to death in a three-alarm fire in the Bay State Stables at No. 574-576 Shawmut avenue early today.

The building had been denounced as a fire trap, according to Fire Commissioner Glynn, who pointed out that not only were the orders to clear the runways of feed bags, boxes and barrels of feed ignored,

MERCURY IS AFTER NEW RECORD; NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

For the benefit of those who haven't made up their minds, it may be stated on the authority of Weather Forecaster G. A. Loveland, that today is a scorcher.

Taking off at 1 a. m. from an eminence of 75, the mercury backed and filled a little, and then at 7 o'clock began to soar.

An hour later it had jumped three degrees, and then apparently set out for altitude records, shooting with leaps and bounds to 91 at 11 o'clock, twelve degrees hotter than yesterday at the same hour.

In Cambridge, where the mercury reached 97 in the shade, the schools were closed for the day shortly before noon.

Commuters dragged their Summer wear from the moth balls, and beginning at an early hour, crowds flocked to the beaches and other Summer resorts.

Those confined to the cities were somewhat relieved by a strong breeze from the west, which tempered the sun's rays and stimulated the hope of cooling thunderstorms. Another extenuating circumstance was the fact that the humidity was only 61 per cent.

At the same time, with four already dead in New England, grave fears were felt if the present heat wave, which is sweeping the country, continues as predicted.

According to Forecaster Loveland there is no hope of a change in sight for today or tomorrow at least, unless there is an unexpected shift in the prevailing wind.

Today's heat is believed to have been responsible for the action of Peter Vapetz, forty years old, of No. 97 Spruce street, Chelsea, in leaping fifteen feet into the river from the Charlestown bridge this morning.

After floundering and thrashing around in the water for several minutes, Vapetz clutched a rope thrown to him by David McCarthy, who was passing on a truck, and allowed himself to be pulled to safety by McCarthy and Patrolman Clifford McGee of the Charlestown police.

He was taken to the Relief Hospital suffering from immersion.

KIRBY CLAIMS HE WAS DRUNK WHEN HE ATTACKED 2 WOMEN

WILL PLEAD GUILTY AT TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

rested, the authorities have been convinced that the self-confessed slayer is "yellow clear through." While they regarded Kirby as a "killer," they were also convinced that he was the type who would only attack a helpless woman, or other person who could offer no defense, and they knew, that by letting the prisoner alone, he eventually would tell his story.

During his incarceration in the jail here, the authorities saw to it that Kirby was informed of the activities of the New York detectives, trying to fasten the death of the Nyack girl upon him. The death penalty of New York State for slayers was referred to in his presence, and each day the fear of the chair weighed more heavily on the mind of the slayer.

The police of New York do not have sufficient evidence to try Kirby for the slaying of the Nyack girl. They are not even convinced that he is guilty of the crime, but Kirby was unable to learn just how much the New York police know, and how much evidence they have uncovered.

Even with his statement of the slaying of Miss Hayward given voluntarily, the authorities are convinced that Kirby is still lying. In the essential details his story of the slaying of the woman, the shooting of her aunt and the burning of the cottage, is regarded as true. But there are many details Kirby has manufactured, the authorities believe.

CLAIMS INTOXICATION.

Kirby declares in his statement that he entered the cottage late at night and lay in wait for the two women while he was grossly intoxicated. He was drunk, he said, on a pint of liquor he bought in Augusta.

The authorities are not ready to believe Kirby was drunk. They believe his crime was the work of a man whose mind was distorted with passion rather than with alcohol.

But a careful checkup is being made on all the points of the confession. The statement of Kirby will not be introduced in court against him, but the prisoner is expected to go into court within the next few days, plead guilty to first degree murder and be sentenced immediately to life imprisonment.

Kirby has confessed to committing scores of robberies. He looted many of the Summer camps in and about Winthrop. In his statement the slayer makes every effort to shield his wife, referring to her as a "wonderful Christian woman."

The police are convinced Mrs. Kirby, who is still in the jail here, as the guest of the sheriff, knew nothing of the slaying of Miss Hayward, either before or after the crime. They have evidence, however, which shows that the wife stood outside the door of a Portland pawnshop while her husband was pawning some of his loot inside. The authorities, however, are little interested in the minor crimes Kirby has committed and it is unlikely that the wife ever will be involved in any court action.

Kirby's recital of the brutal slaying of Miss Hayward, was given in a matter of fact tone. He was unmoved as he told how he leaped on the woman and strangled her to death, while neighbors were knocking at the first floor door of the cottage where he had taken his victim, a few hours before.

PURCHASED LIQUOR.

According to Kirby's story, he bought a pint of liquor from a man in Augusta. He drank a portion of this and his mind became inflamed. Late on the night of May 19, he went to the cottage occupied by Miss Hayward and her aunt. He found the women away from home. Forcing an entrance through a rear window, he lay in wait until the women returned on the last car, after attending a social function. Kirby had a revolver in his possession.

Mrs. Towns was the first woman to enter the cottage. Kirby was in the kitchen and as the older woman walked toward the kitchen, striking a light, she caught sight of the crouched figure. Kirby fired point blank at her and she fell with bullets through her cheek and neck. To make doubly sure, Kirby fired again but this bullet only creased the woman's arm.

Then Kirby turned his attention to Miss Hayward, who had witnessed the cold-blooded shooting down of her aunt. He threatened the younger woman with the same fate. After forcing Miss Hayward to don her coat and hat, he started back to his own cottage with her, pressing the muzzle of his revolver against her side.

On the way to his own cottage, Kirby talked to her, he says. He told her that he wanted a part of the $30,000 she possessed.

Arrived at his own cottage, Kirby forced Miss Hayward to a bed room on the second floor where he threatened to shoot her if she made any outcry or attempted to leave. He believed Mrs. Towns dead in the Hayward cottage, he said.

SETS FIRE TO HOUSE.

Leaving the Hayward girl terror-stricken and in a state of collapse, he returned through the dark to the other cottage, saw the figure of Mrs. Town still slumping in the kitchen chair, and then went to the second floor, where he spread out several inflammable dresses and applied a lighted match to them.

Then he quickly left the burning cottage and returned to his terror-stricken prisoner.

Some time later a group of neighbors, attracted by the blaze of the burning Towns cottage, stopped at the cottage where Kirby and the girl were hidden on the second floor.

As the men knocked at the door, Kirby, in terror, and to prevent her from making an outcry, leaped at Miss Hayward. He grasped her by the throat and choked her until the convulsive movements of the body ceased. Then he threw a feather mattress over the body, went to the first floor and greeted his neighbors, who told him of the burning of the Hayward cottage. It was then Kirby learned that Mrs. Towns, whom he believed dead, had crawled from the burning cottage was then in the hospital.

Kirby told his neighbors he had read late, the night before, and had slept through the fire. He joined the party, went to the ruins of the burned cottage and expressed great horror at the crime.

Later, he returned to the cottage where the body of his victim lay, and hid her clothing as best he could, after which he went to Augusta. His revolver, he hid near the cottage. A nother revolver he found at the Towns cottage after shooting down Mrs. Towns, he threw into the lake.

Two days later, he again visited the cottage. The body had started to decompose and Kirby sat for some time trying to think of means of disposing of it.

but also the door leading to the stall room on the second floor was also locked, making rescues impossible.

Joseph Walsh, thirty-five years old, of No. 1 Hammond street, Roxbury, night man at the stable, and James Tirroni, day man, were asleep on the second floor. Both of them were forced to jump from the second story windows to save their lives.

BREAKS ANKLE IN JUMP.

Walsh jumped from a window in the front of the building to the brick sidewalk on Shawmut avenue. He suffered a fracture of the left ankle and possible internal injuries. He is at the Boston City Hospital.

Tirroni leaped from a window in the rear of the building to Willard court and escaped uninjured.

Tirroni told the police that he believed that the fire started in the basement and worked its way to the roof. He said he was asleep and hearing the cries of Walsh he leaped from his bed on the third floor and ran down stairs to the second just in time to see Walsh throw himself off the front window ledge.

FORGETS TO PULL HOOK.

The fire was discovered by a pedestrian, who ran to box 2213, located at Shawmut avenue and Lenox street. He turned the handle, but neglected to pull the hook inside, then vanished.

Patrolmen Stanley Slack and John Phelan happened along fifteen minutes later and heard the cries of fire uttered by Walsh as he lay injured on the sidewalk.

Sergeant John Manning, with Patrolmen Slack and Phelan, attempted to enter the building to rescue the horses, but the intense heat drove them back three times.

When the firemen arrived the building was in flames from cellar to roof and the flames could be seen for several miles around.

The building is located in the heart of the wooden house district and when it was feared that the flames would spread to several adjoining wooden tenement houses in Willard court and along Shawmut avenue two extra alarms were sounded, bringing a great part of the downtown and Roxbury fire engines to the scene.

Residents in the vicinity left their home until the flames were placed under control. The burned stable adjoins another three-story stable, but none of the horses were taken from this building.

The damage was estimated at an early hour at 10,000. An investigation will follow to determine the cause of the flames and the reason for the runway being blocked after the owner had been warned to clear it.

The building had a brick exterior.

84 IN SHADE TODAY IN EASTERN MAINE

Bangor, Me., June 4.—The long-awaited warm weather has arrived in Eastern Maine and mid-summer temperatures prevail. Eighty-four in the shade was the maximum thermometer reading at noon today. Maine coast and inland resorts predict one of the biggest Summer seasons in years.

It starts Friday, and it's a Peach!

WARTIME WORK IN AMERICAN'S FLYING TEST

Practical problems, such as aviators are called upon to perform during wartime, will be assigned to the officers of the Massachusetts National Guard who will take part in the Boston Evening American's $500 Prize Air Flight on June 17. This contest will be one of the features of the 150th anniversary celebration of Bunker Hill Day.

These aviators will "take off" from the Boston airport in East Boston, "sealed orders" being presented to them just before they open the throttle to ascend. These "sealed orders" will be opened when the planes are in the air and then, for the first time, each aviator and his observer will know what problems have been assigned them to work out.

To illustrate, the pilot and observer who fly in the first plane that "takes off" may be instructed in the "sealed orders" to proceed at once to Bunker Hill Monument, Charlestown, where the 150th anniversary of Bunker Hill Day will be under way, and perform certain stunts while above the historic monument. The observer may be instructed to make a sketch of the monument and the assembled throngs thereby.

"SEALED ORDERS."

The "sealed orders" may then direct the pilot and observer of this particular plane to proceed to Framingham, make a sketch of the railroad facilities there and then descend to receive a second set of "sealed orders."

When in the mid-air again the second set of "sealed orders" will be opened and read. This document may direct the occupants of the airplane to fly to Brockton, make a sketch of the Brockton Fair Grounds and then alight at the regular flying field in that city.

A third set of orders may be received at that point instructing the pilot and observer to proceed to Fairhaven, a suburb of New Bedford, and make certain sketches before alighting.

FOUR SETS OF ORDERS.

A fourth set of orders received at that point may direct the fliers to return to the Boston Airport and end the adventure. A time limit will be placed upon each leg of the flight. To make the contest more interesting the judges will probably ask for a written report from each officer who participates in the flight.

Captain Clarence E. Hodge of the 26th Division, Air Service, Massachusetts National Guard, one of the officers who will participate in the Bunker Hill Day Flight, is vitally interested in its success. He wrote the following article for the Boston Evening American:

By CAPT. CLARENCE E. HODGE, 26th Division Air Service, M. N. G.

One of the primary objects of those engaged in military and commercial aviation today is to sell aviation to the general public. The Sealed Order Flying Contest promoted by the Boston Evening American is an excellent opportunity for the 26th Division Air Service, Massachusetts National Guard, to demonstrate to the people of Boston and vicinity that aviation is practicable and that cross-country flying can be engaged in with safety.

It is through the successful completion of such contests and the right kind of publicity that aviation can be sold, and on the 17th of June the flying officers of the 26th Division Air Service will demonstrate that it is possible to perform any air mission or problem that may be assigned without any elaborate preparation before the flight.

HEAT WAVE CAUSES 50 DEATHS IN COUNTRY

New York, June 4.—The death toll in the heat wave in New York and vicinity today stood at seven. There were reports of numerous prostrations. More than fifty have been killed by the heat in the East and Central West.

The heat was accountable for three deaths in Chicago. In several sections of the Middle West the heat brought violent rain and wind storms of tornado proportions. Many persons were killed in these storms.

With two deaths and five prostrated, Detroit today was sweltering through the fourth day of its most stubborn heat wave.

Benson and Wesley Scutt, 13 and 11 year old brothers, were drowned in the Ancram creek at Ancram, N. Y., when they attempted to escape the heat by going swimming. The older boy stepped into a hole and the

FREE STATE VOTES FUND FOR RELIEF OF FARMERS

Dublin, June 4 (A.P.).—The Irish Free State Parliament voted £65,000 pounds (about $325,000) for agricultural and unemployment relief work, based upon proposal by Finance Minister Blythe. If the weather in Ireland continues to be as bad as it was last year, more funds would be necessary, said the Cabinet member. His proposal was endorsed by a vote of 47 to 13.

MERCURY STILL SOARING; FOUR DIE OF HEAT

Because of the excessive heat, all public schools in Springfield were ordered closed today. This was the first time that a local school department record shows a similar order!

HEAT CAUSES DEATHS.

The dead:

Herbert W. Bemis, chief of police and road supervisor of Oxford, overcome at work, dying short time later at his home.

Robert Carlin of Mittineague, found dying from heat prostration along the roadside.

Ephraim Budnick, fish market proprietor of Norwich, Ct., stricken in his store, dying several hours later.

Mary Floor, thirty-two, Pawtucket, R. I., dropped dead while sitting on the front porch of her home.

While the official temperatures of the Boston Weather Bureau show 94 degrees at 2 p. m. yesterday the temperature on the streets of Boston was much higher, and these figures are expected to be broken today.

While the four deaths from the heat in New England occurred outside Boston, yet prostrations in the Hub were many and a number of these victims are reported to be in a serious condition.

The heat wave which holds New England in its grasp is a part of the general wave that covers the entire country east of the Mississippi.

George Collins, twelve years old, was drowned while swimming in the Mill Pond, Methuen.

Six-year-old Ernest Cormier of Haverhill, riding his tricycle along the bank of Little River to get the benefit of the breeze from off the water, lost control and plunged into the river. The body was recovered. The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Cormier of No. 3 Lafayette street, Haverhill.

The Collins boy had gone into the water to escape the heat. It is believed he had a fainting spell while attempting to swim across the pond. Chief of Police Seiferth and Patrolmen Wade and Maduer dove for an hour before they recovered the body.

Only one other big city in the country was as hot as Boston today. At 9 o'clock Key West, Florida, had a temperature of 82, which was the official reading here at that hour.

In Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the thermometer registered 98 degrees at noon. There were many prostrations.

Because of the heat, the thread mills of J. & P. Coats, Pawtucket, R. I., where over 4,000 persons are employed, were closed at noon.

LIGHTNING HITS CHURCH.

The heat wave was accompanied with a heavy electrical storm in the western part of the State. In Millbury lightning struck an immense storage house of the Metropolitan Ice Company. The building and 50,000 tons of ice were destroyed, with a loss of $100,000.

The spire of the Central Baptist Church in Westfield was struck by lightning and partly destroyed by fire.

Frank Howard of Uxbridge, a motorman on a Woonsocket trolley car was temporarily paralyzed when struck by lightning while using an outdoor telephone.

Several persons were stunned when lightning struck a number of buildings in Upton.

Another storm swept over the Manomet section of Plymouth, and the Summer home of the family of the late Thomas Arnold of Abington was struck by lightning which set fire to the structure. The building and its contents were destroyed, with a loss of $10,000.

Temperature Hits 101 in New York State

Albany, N. Y., June 4 (A.P.)—June heat records were falling before rising temperatures throughout New York State today. In many cases the records erased had stood for three decades.

At Elmira thermometers were reported as recording 101 degrees and going up. Poughkeepsie sweltered with the mercury at 98. Hornell reported 93 degrees in the shade.

Heat prostrations were reported at these cities and in Ithaca, Troy, Binghamton and this city.

Buffalo was an envied city with an official temperature of but 67. Cool lake breezes were the cause.

When Washington headquarters received Buffalo's figure of 66 degrees this morning, a correction was asked for but Buffalo replied the figure was right.

CAMBRIDGE ST. GARAGE PERMIT IS APPROVED

Overruling the protest of West End citizens, State Fire Marshal Neal confirmed the action of the Boston Street Commission in granting a license for the erection of a $1,000,000 garage, capable of housing 800 automobiles, at 13-17 Cambridge street.

U. S. Ship Sunk

London, June 4.—The ship Reliant, formerly the property of Charles L. Diamond of New York, which was en route from Grimsby to New York, was wrecked off the Donegal coast as the result of a leak.

World War Hero, Unsung, to Quit Army June 17

Washington, June 4 (Universal Service). — Major-General Omar Bundy, commander of the famous second division which turned the tide of the World War by stopping the Germans at Belleau Wood, will pass out of the army without recognition or reward from his own government.

General Bundy reaches the retirement age of sixty-four on June 17. Brigadier-General Joseph E. Kuhn has been recommended for promotion to the major-generalship Bundy will vacate.

General Bundy is the only American overseas general not awarded either the Distinguished Service Cross or Distinguished Service Medal.

"The American flag has been driven back. This is intolerable. We shall go forward," was the reply Bundy is reported to have sent to his French superior. And the marines and infantry making up the second division hurled themselves against the Germans in a victorious battle that thrilled the world.

2 BOSTON MEN IN HOLLIS MYSTERY

Somerville pianist and a young Hub physician have been ordered brought to headquarters for questioning. The son of the political leader and the pianist are sought particularly for police believe that the two men who accompanied them to the party may know some important facts connected with the slaying of Mrs. Price.

There were men and women at the party and drinks were served. There was also some card playing, but the persons in attendance were not noisy, and the party was not regarded as "rough" in any respect.

The two strangers who entered with the Boston men, however, left after a short stay, and the police want to know of their movements after they left the party.

When the four men entered the room where the party was in progress, they inquired for an actor. Later, it is said, they went to a room on the sixth floor of the hotel.

SEEK INFORMATION.

The police are confident that at least one person attending the party can give valuable information, and for this reason, every effort is being made to locate the local men involved.

A tall, swarthy, smartly dressed young man with a criminal record, also is sought as the possible slayer of Mrs. Price.

The young man in question disappeared Monday morning. The police of Lagrange street station are anxious to locate and interview him. He is reported to have served a term of twelve years, but the offense has not been made public.

Mrs. Margaret Tracy, chambermaid in charge of the hotel annex, saw Mrs. Price in the company of a well-dressed young man whose description tallies with that of the fugitive suspect. That was on Monday on Tremont street, opposite Wilbur Theatre.

The important feature of Mrs. Tracy's testimony was that she heard Mrs. Price and a man in a heated argument in Mrs. Price's room on the fourth landing of the hotel at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon, two days after "The Brown Derby" company arrived in Boston.

Mrs. Tracy is the second witness to come forward and tell of hearing high words in Mrs. Price's room. The first was John Regan, a former bellboy who lives at No. 11 Arcola street, Jamaica Plain. Regan took Mrs. Price and a stylishly dressed woman of 35 up in the elevator Sunday evening preceding the tragedy. Passing the room at 7:30 he said he heard them talking loudly, apparently in dispute, but did not pause long enough to hear what they were saying.

2 MALDEN HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS ELOPE

aid of Everett, and she flitted with him to Nashua, N. H., a month ago, where they were married by the Rev. Lawrence L. Barbee.

Edla, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Bylin of No. 25 Division street, Malden, is one of the darlings of the Malden High School senior class and has been decidedly prominent in school affairs, taking a leading part in dramatics and being a member of many social organizations.

Not to be outdone by her fellow-eloper, Olive also is a darling of the class. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Coleman of No. 600 Main street—one of the few Main streets in the world claiming no Babbits.

WORKS FOR BRIDE.

Here husband is Frank Elmer Cyr of No. 52 High street, Malden, who departed the life of a Malden High senior and track manager several months ago to go to work for the only girl, figuring that weekly wages went a lot further toward supporting a young bride than a pretty, beribboned diploma.

Olive and Frank picked Manchester, N. H., as their Gretna Green and were married on May 11 by the Rev. Stoddard Lane.

The school brides will receive their diplomas under their marriage names.

THEOLOGICAL DIPLOMA FOR BAY STATE WOMAN

Mrs. Elizabeth Helen Smith of Winchester, the only woman in the class, was one of seven students to be graduated yesterday from the Bangor, Me., Theological Seminary.

Her husband was graduated from the same school last year.

Other Massachusetts graduates yesterday were Allan Edward Burtt, Whitinsville; Leon A. Dean, Greenfield; Frank Roosevelt Hamilton, Winchendon.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity was conferred upon George Savage Brooks and John Herbert Rogers of the class of 1918.

sometimes. But he is about the only "big lawyer," with money and brains enough to make him independent, really doing anything for the people that he isn't hired and paid to do.

A good thing about him is that he fights both sides, against labor leaders, for instance, when they are caught in New York engaged in blackmail and tyranny, and against the biggest employers of labor, when he thinks they deserve attack.

MR. UNTERMYER, by the way, says he did NOT on a recent occasion criticise the President or suggest any of the old-fashioned White House-Wall Street connection. Others interpreted Mr. Untermyer's words otherwise. His denial is welcome.

TOO MUCH discussion hurts the credit of a man or a nation. French francs were weak yesterday, falling below 5, the point at which it was believed Caillaux would establish them.

France owes us some thousands of millions and, naturally, the President and Secretary Mellon, representing the American people and the Treasury, and, unlike some others, NOT imagining themselves United States dictators, feel it their duty to GET that money if they can.

At the same time there is one thing that the creditor does NOT want to do. And that is to crowd, bully or discuss his debtor into bankruptcy.

THE FRENCH have every quality that would entitle a man or a nation to credit. They are industrious, and, above all, economical.

They save. A Frenchman that does not save part of what he earns you do not find once in a thousand times. The resources of France are enormous. And the French desire to pay.

UNDER SUCH conditions, it should be possible to negotiate with France and other European debtors on a friendly, businesslike basis, beneficial to the creditor and to the debtor.

FEW AMERICANS realize how resourceful a nation the French are, or how high the average of French prosperity is.

After the war of 1870, when Bismarck demanded five billion francs, the French people offered to their government MORE THAN TEN TIMES THE AMOUNT ASKED FOR.

The French will pay

C. OF C. OPPOSES "NO PARKING" PLAN

Amazing Story of a Man's Struggle Against Temptations That Pulled Him Down to Die in a Cell

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

LIFE at Sing Sing prison was so kaleidoscopic during the months of 1915, with what seemed like important happenings crowded into the background almost daily by happenings of still greater import, that my mind now refuses to give chronological sequence.

I shall, therefore, set down such events as stand out in my recollection, and in which I played my part. These may not be, probably are not, the most important things to record, so far as a history of Sing Sing during that period is concerned, but I have recently learned such a history is now being written by Tom Osborne himself.

Sing Sing entombed a number of "prominent" prisoners who had lived in "Bankers' Row" and enjoyed many private privileges. It had been the custom of the politicians who controlled the prison to make life as easy as possible for thieves in the five, six or seven figure class—offenders who had wrecked financial institutions or gotten away with thousands of dollars of other people's money through high finance.

This applied especially to those who had retained their spoils and were able to buy prison "favor."

When Osborne took charge, for example, there was a high powered automobile in the garage, the property of a convict who had bought it for the warden's use, with the understanding that he, the convict, was to be the chauffeur. This man had been permitted to drive to New York and other places almost at will, until disaster came through publicity.

Other "bon tons," however, were still enjoying special privileges and favors, and, in a way, ruled the prison.

Osborne determined to change all this, not by arbitrary action—though that was justified — but through the influence of the prisoners' organization, in which every man had a voice. As a result, it very soon became apparent that out-and-out burglars had more principle and a better conception of true social values than had in-and-out bankers and other captured wolves of finance. The "prominence" of the "silk stocking" class soon faded so far as the prison itself was concerned, and hitherto obscure prisoners began rising to the top by sheer force of ability and inherent character.

And be it said in passing that in the workings of prison self-government the stoolpigeons and four-flushers had no chance to pursue their evil practices. They became nonentities, creatures openly despised by all.

Among the men thus forced to

NEW ENGLAND U. C. T. MEETS IN BURLINGTON

Burlington, Vt., June 4.—The grand council of New England of the United Commercial Travelers in session here for the remainder of the week, has its first business meeting today. An address of welcome was delivered by Mayor C. H. Beecher. The members will be taken on a sight-seeing tour in the vicinity of Burlington. Officers will be elected tomorrow.

EX-SEN. WALSH SPEAKS AT TRINITY COLLEGE

Former United States Senator David I. Walsh today delivered the commencement adress at Trinity College, Washington.

MERCHANTS ALSO ASK ONE HOUR LIMIT

Opposition to the blanket parking restrictions in the downtown district, proposed by the Street Commissioners, was offered by the Chamber of Commerce and leading merchants at a hearing before the commissioners today.

Gifford LeClear and Fitz-Henry Smith, Jr., of the Committee on Municipal Affairs of the Chamber, submitted recommendations on parking in accordance with a carefully studied scheme applying to the principal streets.

They declared that additional parking regulations, in some cases for morning and evening, and in other cases for all day, should be imposed gradually.

George W. Mitton of Jordan Marsh Company, chairman of the Traffic Committee of the Boston Retail Board, said the street commissioners would commit a terrible error if they eliminated passenger cars from the downtown district. He said the Retail Trade Board does not encourage such a procedure, which would drive business to outlying cities.

WANTS ONEHOURLIMIT.

Mr. Mitton said he believes the parking limit of twenty minutes should be increased to one hour, that the present conditions surrounding the unloading of freight are desirable, and that if the police are unable to handle traffic they should have more men.

He also declared that tags should be served as summonses, and favored the appointment by the Mayor of an advisory traffic board.

Among those present at the hearing were: Deputy Superintendent of Police Thomas F. Goode, Captains Bernard J. Hoppe and James Laffey of the Traffic Department, Meyer Bloomfield, secretary of the Retail Trade Board of the Chamber of Commerce; Dan F. Hickey, secretary of the Boston Motor Club; George F. Stebbins of the Team Owners' Association, and S. A. J. Morgan, president of the Boston Retail Trade Board.

MORE POLICE NEEDED.

The recommendations of the Chamber of Commerce, based on a three years' study of the traffic problem, were summarized as follows:

1—That the Boston police department should be given additional officers, so that existing traffic regulations can be rigidly enforced.

2—That no blanket parking regulations applying to the entire downtown district should be imposed at this time.

3—That additional parking regulations, in some cases for all days, should be imposed gradually. For the present, at least, these should be confined to through traffic streets, where the greatest need clearly exists, and within the limits of the ability of the Boston police department adequately to enforce them.

4—That the Board of Street Commissioners should be urged to study the feasibility of a special permit system whereby entrances to freight doors would be kept free of parked vehicles.

5—That legislation should be adopted permitting the Boston Police Department o tag vehicles violating traffic regulations, and to collect fines in lieu of a court trial.

6—That all elements in the community should urge the immediate construction of the Loop Highway as the most promising, comprehensive improvement of the traffic congestion problem in Boston.

DORIS FOILS DEATH

Doris Kenyon, movie star, saved from death by her director, Robert Ryan, during fire on vessel used in screening picture off Sandy Hook.

DORIS KENYON NEAR DEATH AT SEA

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., June 4.—Five members of a motion picture unit, filming scenes for "The Half-way Girl," were injured during a fire aboard a ship eighteen miles off Sandy Hook.

The injured are:

Robert Ryan, assistant director, serious burns on the left arm and side which may necessitate skin-grafting.

Doris Kenyon, star of the picture, burns.

Kay English, Elmhurst, L. I., splintered ankle.

Doris Freeman, North Pelham, legs badly cut.

Maude Quinn, Brooklyn, badly bruised and possible internal injuries.

The company, working for First National, has been aboard ship for several days, living on the fishing excursion steamer Pastime and being filmed aboard an old United States Shipping Board vessel which has been renamed the Mandalay for the picture.

A fire was started in the vessel's hold. When the flames had reached a height of twelve feet above the deck, the director sent out the order to "shoot."

As Miss Kenyon started past the fire for the lifeboats a gust of wind twisted the flames to a point where she was in peril. Ryan, seeing the position of the star, rushed to her rescue, hurling his own body between the fire and the star, and after a struggle dragging her to safety.

A panic followed in which nine women members of the cast were trampled, and Misses English, Freeman and Quinn hurt.

The company was immediately transferred back to the Pastime, which rushed them to Atlantic Highlands, where physicians were called to attend the injured.

PROBE BOSTON MARINE'S SUICIDE AT NAVY YARD

New York, June 4 (I.N.S.).—An investigation was being made today by Brooklyn Navy Yard officials into the suicide of Walter J. Ball, formerly of Boston, a marine attached to the Naval Hospital at the yard. Ball took his life by drinking poison, according to officials. He is survived by Henry Ball, a brother, of Roxbury, Mass.

Glass Canopy Falls

Worcester, June 4.—With a thunderous roar, a thirty-foot section of the glass canopy over the District Court room in the Worcester police, headquarters, weighing at least a ton, crashed through the skylight underneath, doing considerable damage to furniture and other articles in the court room.

MARSHALL AS HUMBLE IN DEATH AS IN LIFE

Indianapolis, June 4 (A.P.).—Humble as he was in life, so was Thomas R. Marshall today in death. The body of the nation's war-time Vice-President and Indiana's 27th Governor might have fittingly lain in state in the Capitol Building where once he held high office. Instead it rested in his quaint, old home here awaiting simple services today.

The Scottish Rite, of which Mr. Marshall was an honored member, will conduct funeral ceremonies, which will be attended only by members of the Masonic order, immediate relatives and a few intimate friends of the Marshall family.

NO POMP AT SERVICE

The casket will be taken to Crown Hill Cemetery, there to be placed in a receiving vault and held until Mrs. Marshall determines upon its final resting place.

No pomp or pageantry will mark the obsequies, Mrs. Marshall having expressed the wish that the passing be attended by the simplicity so characteristic of her husband.

This morning the casket rested amid a bank of floral tributes bearing notable names—among them President and Mrs. Coolidge, General John J. Pershing, and Justice Reynolds of the Supreme Court.

They were also the offerings of others, many being from old friends who had never reached high position but who knew him from his plain expression that had never outgrown their interests and was yet sympathetic with their tribulations.

THOUSANDS MOURN.

The body of Mr. Marshall came back to his home yesterday from Washington where he died Monday as he peacefully read from a book that he apparently never grew tired of perusing—the Bible.

An escort of State officials and Masonic members accompanied it through the streets lined with silent throngs that stood with bared heads.

DRY HEADS PLAN 'LIQUOR-PROOF' WALL FOR U. S.

Barrier Around Nation Will Cut Off Supply; Seek Aid of College Men

Washington, June 4 (I.N.S.)—A liquor proof wall extending around the United States to prevent smuggling of wet goods permanently is the objective of the government rum war, the treasury disclosed today.

To cut off the liquor supply of those, who, with well stocked cellars have laughed at the Volstead Act, is among the prime purposes of the "whiskey crusade," General L. C. Andrews, field marshal of the prohibition forces, declared.

"I believe we can make the borders and the coast lines as difficult for the liquor smuggler to reach as though they were an armed enemy," Andrews added.

Details of a general plan to bring about observation of the dry laws are being worked out by Andrews, who was selected by President Coolidge to head enforcement and to coordinate the activities of various agencies.

Besides his "big stick" methods for "dryin' up" the country, Andrews plans a series of addresses to university student bodies, commercial and civic organizations.

BRIDE INSURES FUTURE HUBBY

Miss Nina J. Brickman of Roxbury, presented a Boston Evening American $7,500 accident policy to her fiance, Bernard R. Davis, also of Roxbury, when the couple appeared at the city registrar's office to file marriage intentions. "This policy is a wedding present for us both," Miss Brickman declared.

2 COMMUNISTS SLAIN, 450 JAILED, IN BULGARIA

Sofia, June 4 (I.N.S.)—Two Communists were killed and one surrendered to avoid being shot in a nation-wide roundup of Communists by the Bulgarian Government.

The three men were besieged in a house and refused to surrender.

A total of 450 Communists were arrested, some of whom confessed they were implicated in the rebellion conspiracy at Varna.

INSURANCE IS WEDDING GIFT OF BRIDE

Roxbury Girl Gives American Policy to Fiance While Filing Intentions

[illegible] met him in September, became engaged to him in February, took out marriage intentions in June—and right on the spot, in City Hall, did Nina J. Brickman of Roxbury, as foresighted a bride-to-be as ever lived, insure her intended husband against accident.

In the presence of her smiling fiancé, Bernard R. Davis, of No. [illegible] Morton street, Dorchester, Miss Brickman, who lives in No. 21 Inverness street, Roxbury, took out one of the Boston Evening American's $7,500 accident policies for his and her protection.

"He ought to have one," she said seriously, "for, you see, he is a traveling salesman. It will be a good idea if I made him a wedding present of one."

Then she spoke warm words of praise for the Boston Evening American's offer of so much insurance for only $1 a year.

Incidentally, both pretty Miss Brickman and her husband-to-be read the Boston Evening American every night and as Home Delivery subscribers, the insurance policy cost them only one dollar and it was not necessary that they make application to become subscribers.

Persons not Home Delivery subscribers but wishing to obtain one of these extraordinary policies, can fill out a coupon printed in this newspaper, signify their intention of becoming subscribers and forward the coupon with one dollar.

That is all—except the payment each week of 12 cents to the newsboy who delivers the newspaper to the home. Never was there offered so much insurance for so little.

The insured-romance of Miss Brickman and Bernard Davis is a romance of business. Miss Brickman is Boston manager for the New York cloak and suit house of Tuchman Meyer & Co.

Davis, as a traveling salesman, visited the office at No. 112 Chauncy street frequently.

"And you know," said the bride-to-be, blushing some, "well, we're going to be married this month—that's all."

Assistant Registrar Jerry Leary, who is used to blushing brides and pale bridegrooms, wasn't missing a word as Miss Brickman told of her romance.

"It seems quite rapid," she said, "but ours is a real romance, you see."

Right here the bridegroom-to-be squeezed in a few words that sounded like: "That's right, you bet."

"I have been thinking for some time that it would be a splendid idea for me to take out an accident insurance policy for Bernard," she continued. "I think every June bride should do likewise as a protection for herself.

"Then the offer of the American is so reasonable that I don't just see how anyone can avoid taking advantage of it.

"You see, especially in my case, Mr. Davis is a traveling man. Perhaps he has some accident policies already. But even so, why not take this opportunity as well. Both he and I take the Evening American every day."

Now if that isn't nice, coming as it does from a June bride . . . !

A policy is available for every June bride. Mail applications now. Delays bring regret.

Pickerel in Water Pipe of House Stops Supply

SCOPES' TRIAL TOWN EXPECTS THOUSANDS

Chicago, June 4.—Professor James Moffat of the University of Glasgow, translator of the Old Testament, told an audience at the University of Chicago that England was looking on in "surprise and perplexity" at the Tennessee evolution case and that the people of Great Britain see evolution as a fact interferring in no way with the religious impulse.

Meanwhile the town of Dayton, Tenn., seat of the coming struggle, is planning to entertain at least 5,000 visitors. Offices of the Scopes' trial entertainment committee have been opened in the City Hall and every home in the town, as well as neighboring municipalities, is being card indexed.

Requests for reservations have swamped the hotel facilities. Bus service to Chattanooga, twenty-nine miles away, and to other nearby towns, has been arranged to accommodate the crowds. The trial will be radiocast.

John R. Neal, chief defence counsel, said the issue of Biblical truth was not to be brought up. Sue K. Hicks, a leader in the prosecution, defined the issue, saying:

"The truth of the Bible or the evolution theory is not involved. The only question of importance is whether the Legislature under constitutional authority can control the schools, and the question already has been decided in our favor."

Clarence Darrow today struck back at William J. Bryan, declaring the Commoner knew nothing at all about evolution.

"Bryan," said Mr. Darrow, "is essentially a crusader. Personally, I am a strong believer in evolution. The whole question, of course, is as to the constitutionality of the Tennessee law, and it looks as though it might be found to be strictly not constitutional."

Mr. Darrow admitted that correspondence had passed between him and Scopes' defence counsel regarding the forthcoming trial, but said he was not at liberty to divulge the future.

Society Horse Lovers on Alert for Two-Day Millwood Horse Show

Betty Alden

SOCIETY'S HORSE-LOVING set are on the qui vive for Friday and Saturday's Horse Show of the Millwood Hunt at Reginald W. Bird's Waveney Farm in Framingham. It is to be a stupendous affair, the largest and most spectacular north of Philadelphia's famous Devon Hunt Show, so say Mr. Bird and his conferers.

IT'S A TRUE prediction, to be sure, for entries have come in by the scores until it was necessary to literally put up the bars and say "no more." Every prominent horse lover and horse owner in seven counties are showing their mounts, and there are more than six hundred entries.

MISS HARRIET ROYCE, daughter of the Frederick Page Royces of Dedham, has her horse "Scarlet Letter" entered. He was one of the spirited mounts which provided so much excitement for the gallery in the "Touch and Go" class at the recent Horse Show at Chestnut Hill.

SPEAKING OF THAT classic of the tan bark, practically the three hundred entries for that show all make the short journey out Framingham way for the Waveney Farm Show, which means that Society will be out in force both within and without the ring.

MISS ELIZABETH SPRAGUE, a spirited rider and the daughter of the Phineas W. Spragues and sister-in-law of the former Lucy Carnegie, now Mrs. Phineas Shaw Sprague, is showing her horse. Youthful Miss Beatrice Howell, daughter of Mrs. [illegible] Haughton, is on the list, and little Miss Eloise Weld.

THE last mentioned young girl is the sub-debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Weld of Marlboro street. Another youthful rider already a talented equestrienne, Miss Barbara Welch, daughter of the Edward Sohier Welches of Beacon street and the North Shore, is on the list.

Miss Betty Bird, daughter of Reginald W. Bird of Framingham, with her blue ribbon winner, "Chocolate Soldier." Miss Bird will show her horse at the Millwood Hunt Horse Show, Staff Photograph.

MISS ALICE STUART with her handsome gray horse, "Blue Fern" winner of many ribbons, Miss Sylvia Warren of Lime street, Miss Mary Emery and Mrs. Manning Emery, Jr., of the "Tower House," Framingham Centre, will be in the ring.

RICHARD SALTONSTALL will show "Moonlighter." Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., without whom no sporting event of any pretensions to smartness is quite complete, will show a team, including "Desert Queen," "Irish," "Pink Coat," and "Little Dalby."

MRS. HOMER LORING and Miss Elizabeth Loring, those consistent winners of blue and red ribbons, will be in the ring with their prize horses, "Viceroy" and "Valhalla." At the Chestnut Hill classic this team won first in the Saddle Pair class, one of the spectacular and much applauded events.

THAT ring favorite belonging to the Reginald W. Bird family, "Chocolate Soldier" with Miss Betty Bird in the saddle, will without doubt repeat some of his wins taken at the Chestnut Hill show. He came away with red and blue ribbons to add to the trophies already garnered.

OTHER representatives of the Bird menage in the saddle will be in all probability Mrs. Reginald Bird herself, with her mount "Chocolate," and Miss Patricia Bird, the younger daughter, with "Lady Betty." John R. Bird also is to ride.

DR. GEORGE J. HILL and Miss Lucy Hill of Commonwealth avenue, Richard Ely Danielson, Captain Philip H. Sherwood, Charles F. Choate, Jr., of Southboro, Leverett Saltonstall, Bigelow Crocker and C. T. Crocker, 2nd, both of Fitchburg, gentleman riders all, are showing also.

AS to the gallery, it will be extremely brilliant, with all the spectators who turned out for the Chestnut Hill Show in attendance. Speaking of that affair, there was no more elated child in the length and breadth of society's realm that small Marian Reggio when she won the cup in the pony class.

SUCH a fine rider atop a tall pony as she was! But so perfectly self-possessed and riding happily. All her small mates rushed down the field to congratulate her when she came out the ring. And near at hand was, of course, her mother, Mrs. A. William Reggio, vastly delighted with her little daughter's success.

I ALSO saw Mrs. Manning Emery, an interested spectator from the vantage point of a ringside motor seat. Mrs. Morehead Patterson, whose husband was showing "Cupid" and "[illegible]," and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Sortwell (Mr. Sortwell riding in the afternoon events) also viewed the field from their motors.

SOCIETY AT the show ring also included Mr. and Mrs. Allan Forbes and their small son, [illegible], just back in town from a Winter spent in Aiken and that smart environment where sport is king. Also Mrs. E. Sohier Welch, Miss Lorna Underwood with her father, Loring Underwood, and Miss Elizabeth Sprague.

MR. AND MRS. W. SCOTT BLANCHARD arrived for the afternoon events, as did also Miss Dorothy Weld, daughter of the A. Winsor Welds, William DeFord, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miller, Miss Nell Todd Baldwin and her mother, Mrs. George Baldwin, and Miss Louise and Priscilla Waterman.

NO MORE interested spectators could be found about the entire ring than Mrs. Richard Middlecott Saltonstall and her daughter, Miss Muriel Saltonstall. Way back in the early beginning of the Chestnut Hill show it was held in the Saltonstall grounds out in Chestnut Hill and from that time has grown to its present large place in society's events of sport.

Shortest Cut

Experts on nutrition, entertainment and the social graces all agree on one topic: good candy is the shortest cut to many things.

Whether eaten as a food, sent as an expression of sentiment, or offered as proof of hospitality, it hits the mark.

By reason of its sugar content, candy is Nature's shortest cut to stimulation through food. It is as much a part of the normal food-urge as hunger for bread or thirst for water.

Campaigning soldiers, growing children, active people of all ages crave it because their system needs it. It affords almost instant relief for physical weariness. Ask anyone who was in the War.

By virtue of its associations, candy is Civilization's shortest cut to the affections. It carries any message you may have in your heart.

Old people are grateful—it says you have not forgotten them. Young people are pleased—it shows you want to know them better. Very young people are delighted—it tells them that you were young once yourself.

And because of its taste, candy is Society's shortest cut to a reputation for hospitality.

No acceptable dinner menu omits the candy finale. No well-planned week-end neglects the well-filled box. No well-planned entertainment of any sort is complete without candy.

Next time you feel especially tired, or bored, or sentimental, or hospitable, try the shortest cut—Candy.

But be sure it is good candy; made of the finest and purest materials, under the most cleanly conditions, in the home-made way. Something, say, on the order of Schrafft's Home-made Candies.

MANIAC KILLS EIGHT AS THEY SLEEP

Mother, Brother, His Wife and Five Children Victims of Ohio Man

Hamilton, O., June 4.—Becoming violently insane, Floyd Russell today shot and killed eight members of his family, according to police, who arrested him after he had shot and slightly wounded himself.

His victims were the five children of his brother, his mother, brother and sister-in-law.

Russel is in a padded cell. The dead are:

Mrs. Rose Russel, 60, mother; John Lowell Russel, brother; Emma Russel, 35, wife of John Lowel Russel; Julia, 12, Robert 8, George Francis 6, Paul Lewis 3, and Richard 4 months.

Dorothy, 10 years old, saved herself by hiding in bed when she heard shots.

After he killed them Russel riddled the bodies of several of the children with bullets. He had two guns and fired about fifty shots. Most of the victims were sleeping.

DIVA'S HUSBAND OFF FOR REST; STILL GONE

Singer Seeks Divorce From Man Who Left for Coast Seven Years Ago

Portland, Me., June 4.—The smiling skies and balmy breezes of California evidently agree with Harry Lewis Hubbard.

Harry Lewis hustled out to the Golden State in 1917 for a short vacation and liked it so well he hasn't been East since, according to his wife, Olive Fremstad, opera and concert singer.

The singer told Judge Arthur Chapman of her husband's disappearance, seven years ago, in an effort to secure a divorce on the grounds of desertion.

Madame Fremstad, who said that her residence is at Bridgton, this State, where, in the midst of the artists' colony, she has for years maintained a Summer villa, declared that she could assign no reason for her husband's departure.

There were two other witnesses. The singer's secretary, Miss Eunice Wilson, and Forrest Abbott of Bridgton, the proprietor of a Summer resort there. They stated that, to their knowledge, Hubbard has not resided with Madame Fremstad for the past three years.

2813 AMERICANS LIVE IN CHINA'S RIOT ZONE

Consul-General Reports to Washington That Situation Is "Exceedingly Serious"

Shanghai, June 4 (I.N.S.).—Fifty thousand additional Chinese workers joined the city wide strike today, including the employes of a British cigarette company, the Chinese staffs of practically all of the foreign banks, and employes of foreign shops and offices. The strike is now estimated to involve 150,000 workers.

San Francisco, June (A.P.).—Advices from Shanghai today told of the spread of the general strike, but of a lull in rioting, which had been in progress since last Saturday as a protest against prosecution of strikers in Japanese cotton mills.

Reports sent to the State Department at Washington by Consul-General Cunningham described conditions as "exceedingly serious."

American vessels now at Shanghai include the gunboats Elcano and Villalobos, the mine sweeper Penguin and five destroyers.

The foreign population under the census of 1920 was more than 25,000, including 2,813 Americans. Japanese made up about 13,000 of the foreign population at that time.

To Star in Show

"Buster" Bickford, four-year-old Medford boy, who will appear in the stellar role of "Honey Boy" at the annual recital of Madame Lyman School for Stage Folk in Jordan Hall Monday evening.

The city consists of three sections, the Chinese city, the international settlement and the French concession, each with a separate government.

Foreigners in Shanghai, except Germans and Russians, are under extra-territorial control and can be tried only in their own consular courts under the laws of their own countries. Chinese residing within the foreign settlement are subject to jurisdiction of a mixed court, where a Chinese magistrate presides, supported by a foreign assessor. It was a decision of this "mixed" court which started the present trouble.

British Press Wants World Powers to Act

London, June 4 (A.P.).—A grave view is taken here of the disturbances at Shanghai and the outlook in China generally, fear being expressed that things are moving toward a situation resembling the Boxer uprising.

The Times and other leading papers see the only remedy in earnest united action by the powers to restore peace and order. The Times says they will soon have a favorable opportunity, as France will shortly ratify the Washington treaties, after which the tariff conference provided for by those agreements will automatically come into existence.

Dispatches received by British official circles say that Chang Tso-Lin, war lord of Manchuria, is about to withdraw from the central coalition government of the country. With aid which it is reported will be supplied by Japanese interests, Chang will attempt to take Peking from the troops of General Feng Yu-Hsiang, "the Christian general," who has commanded the city since the coalition was formed.

The admiralty stated that 2,000 British bluejackets had been landed at Shanghai and that soon there will be reinforcements stationed nearby awaiting call.

Report Strikers Hold Big Suburb of Shanghai

London, June 4 (I.N.S.)—Armored cars were sent today to the Western district of Shanghai, where Chinese had concentrated and were in control of the suburb, according to dispatches reaching here.

Two British warships have arrived and all legations are under a strong guard. The anti-foreign disorders now involve Shanghai, Peking and Canton and the movement is spreading.

BLIND CRIPPLE IS TO WED GUIDE

Invalid Harvard Grad and Nurse to Marry in Wheelchair Romance

Although Rhodes Burdett, Harvard graduate, is almost blind and is a cripple, romance has entered his life as completely as though he were in the flush of perfect health and vigor.

The romance of Burdett, who must be wheeled about in a chair, with a nurse in almost constant attendance, was revealed when marriage intentions were filed at Cambridge City Hall for the young college graduate and Miss Pauline Folger Brackett, 24-year-old nurse who for several months has been in attendance on him.

Burdett, who after he quit Harvard in 1919 became a book salesman, lives with his mother at No. 32 Hawthorn street, Cambridge. Miss Brackett lives in Haverhill and in the marriage intentions she gave her occupation as "student."

The young college graduate's eyesight failed while he was in college. When he was graduated, he engaged a secretary, and through dictated letters built up a large business as representative of one of the country's leading publishing houses.

During his college days, Burdett lived at No. 66 Kirkland street, Cambridge, while his mother, Mrs. Marita M. Burdett, lived at Hingham.

The date for the wedding has not been announced but the ceremony will take place sometime during the next fortnight.

RUSSIAN BALTIC FLEET ORDERED TO KRONSTADT

London, June 4.—The Russian Baltic fleet has been ordered to Kronstadt, where martial law has been declared, said a Central News dispatch today from Stockholm.

The Stockholm newspaper, Tidningens, in commenting, said: "It is interesting that this order coincides with the visit of British warships to Esthonian ports.

The new Sunshine Soda Cracker

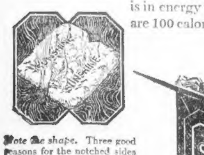
IT is rather difficult to keep any great distance between a youngster and a package of these Soda Crackers.

This is something to be glad about. For when young stomachs yearn for this Soda Cracker, it's a mighty good indication that they need just the amount of food energy that this cracker provides.

When it's "awfu'-long-to-supper-Mummer", Sunshine Soda Crackers will keep their hunger in check without spoiling their appetites at meal times.

Notice in the comparative table how high this cracker is in energy value—a real food. There are 100 calories in every four crackers.



Note the shape. Three good reasons for the notched sides (patented):
1. Splits in two for sandwiches.
2. Less crumbling.
3. In baking, the notches form many vent-holes in the sheet of crackers: Result — more thorough baking and better flavor.

FILM STAR GETS WALL STREET BY EARS

Lila Lee Cleans Up $83,000 as Trading in Maxwell Motors Is Suspended

New York, June 4.—When Lila Lee, film star, cleaned up $83,000 in the sensational advance of Maxwell Motor Corporation A and B stock, she and other traders brought about a condition which has flabbergasted Wall street.

Announcement was made today by the governing board of the New York Stock Exchange that trading in the issues had been suspended because a "natural corner" had been created, preventing a free and open market.

The stocks in four months climbed 47 and 84 points, respectively. The A stock rose from 74⅝ on January 27 to 121½ yesterday. The B stock shot up from $33.25 to $127.50.

Lila Lee is one of the few who made money in Maxwell. Many traders short on the stock are wondering how to pay their obligations now that trading has ended.

The corner was unlike those contrived by Allan A. Ryan in Stutz stock in 1920 and by Clarence Saunders in Piggly Wiggly in 1923. It was caused by the plan of readjustment announced April 18, by which the Chrysler Corporation took over the assets and liabilities of the Maxwell Corporation. Ninety per cent. of the Maxwell stock had been deposited by May 26 for exchange into stocks of the new corporation.

The remaining 10 per cent. of the old stock is held by a few persons. No individual is held responsible for the corner.

Aids Employes

William J. Davidson, president of the New England division of The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, who announces that company employes will be permitted to buy stock in the business.

A. & P. TO SELL STOCK TO EMPLOYES

William J. Davidson, of No. 82 Green street, Brookline, president of the New England division of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, which is said to do the largest cash business in the world, announced today the early inauguration of a plan whereby workers who have been in the company's employ for five years will be allowed to subscribe to common stock to 10 per cent. of their wages for the past year. Those employed for more than one year may subscribe to preferred stock to 10 per cent. of their annual wages.

In order that the plan may be put into operation, a Maryland corporation has been formed that will hold the stock of the operating companies.

Last year more than $352,000,000 in cash passed over the counters of the company's 12,000 stores throughout the country. More than 35,000 people are employed by the company, which operates 2,300 stores and five warehouses in New England alone. Of these, there are 456 stores in Greater Boston.

There were 229 new stores opened in New England since March 1, and, according to Mr. Davidson, the company's program calls for the opening of 600 more in the same territory during the rest of 1925.

This program, Mr. Davidson said, is but a reflection of the optimism which the company officials and owners feel in regard to the future of business in New England. A good steady, healthy growth is anticipated, he declared.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company was founded in 1859 by a New Englander, George Huntington Hartford, of Augusta, Me., and it is noteworthy that today all the officials of the New England Division are primarily New England men.

Mr. Davidson has been handling the New England business for 18 of the 23 years he has been in the company's service.

The other officers of the New England Division, which includes the upper and Eastern sections of New York State, are: John A. Hartford, first vice president; Henry M. Anderson, vice president; Robert Clougher, vice president; John S. Saxton, vice president; Lewis W. Thompson, vice president; Paul A. Doehler, treasurer; Charles A. Armitage, secretary; and John D. Rindge, Jr., R. I. Harry, H. L. Treeman, P. S. Comstock and A. T. Dickinson, directors.

An idea of the growth of the company's business in New England may be obtained when it is explained that 15 years ago when Mr. Davidson first took charge of developing it, the company had only 42 stores in the territory.

Today Mr. Davidson has 2,300 stores and 8,000 employes under his supervision and management.

TOTS HURT COOLING OFF IN SHADE OF BIG TRUCK

Three-year-old Eliza Alessansini of No. 44 Snow Hill street, North End, and her chum, Ellen Croissi, four, who lives at No. 46, were cooling off on the curb in front of Eliza's home today when an auto truck scraped them painfully.

The tots on the sizzling curb were so tiny that Jeremiah Crowley of No. 26 Moulton street, Dorchester, driver of the truck in whose shade they were sitting did not notice them when he climbed into the seat after making a delivery.

Crowley placed the girls in his truck and took theb to the Relief [illegible] abrasions and lacerations on their faces, arms and legs.

CONVICTED SLAYER IS KILLED AFTER ROBBERY

Canton, Ill., June 4.—Clyde Duncan, thirty-eight, of Peoria was killed; his stepson, Guy Conkey, twenty-five, probably was fatally wounded, and Ralph Dinsel was captured at Norris, near here, after they had robbed a railroad station and a general store today. Duncan and Conkey were surprised by a posse aroused by a burglar alarm. Two other men escaped.

Duncan recently was convicted of a charge of murder, and was at liberty on bond pending a new trial.

ILLUSTRATOR, DESCENDANT OF TWO PRESIDENTS, DIES

Word reached Mrs. Ellen Wilson Adams of Salem today of the death in New York of her son, John Walcott Adams, widely known illustrator and descendant of the Adams' family, which gave two Presidents to the United States.

He was born in Worcester fifty years ago and, besides his mother, is survived by a daughter, Frances, a brother, Philip, and a sister, Mrs. S. P. [illegible], of Salem.

KIN TO EDISON, SHE DIES A PAUPER

Mother of the Inventor's Son's Wife Escapes Burial in Potter's Field

New York, June 4.—A weary old woman, wasted by years of suffering from a tumor, died at Bellevue Hospital Decoration Day.

She had been at the institution two days, had been listed as Mrs. Elizabeth Heyzer—a name which did not excite comment—and had given the name of Dr. Franklin King as the friend who should be notified in case of her death. She was buried Tuesday. Dr. King's church paid for her funeral.

Saturday it developed that the woman, who did not wish even her children to be disturbed about her death, was a relative by marriage of Thomas A. Edison, the inventor. She was the mother of Edison's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Jr., of East Orange, N. J.

For a few hours it looked as though Mrs. Heyzer would be buried at public expense. Dr. King notified her son, William Heyzer of New York, who finally claimed the body. And the woman who bears a name distinguished in New York one hundred years back, was saved from Potter's Field.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Jr., was present at the funeral, held in the little parlor of an undertaking establishment in West Thirteenth street. William Heyzer was also there. He did not speak to his sister. An ancient quarrel over a will brought lasting dissensions in the Heyzer family.

Mrs. Heyzer was the widow of the late Charles H. Heyzer, who was one of New York's most distinguished Masons.

TWO SONS TO DIVIDE ESTATE OF $1,300,000

Providence, June 4.—The will of Mrs. Josephine E. Phillips, widow of Eugene F. Phillips, which disposed of an estate of more than $1,300,000, was admitted to probate in the municipal court.

The will was executed November 24 last, and divides the estate "share and share alike" between two sons, Eugene R. and Frank N. Phillips, who are made executors, a personal bond of $1,500,000 being required.

HUSBAND DENIES GUILT IN SLAYING OF WIFE

Fall River, June 4 (A.P.)—Eli Lapointe of North Westport was before Judge Edward Hanify today charged with killing his wife, Maria, whose body was found in a field. He was committed without bail to the county jail, New Bedford, and the case continued until June 10.

"I am not guilty," said Lapointe. "I know nothing about it." The man was already under arrest when his wife's body was discovered. Neighbors had complained that he was abusing Mrs. Lapointe.

30,000 WOULD STARVE WITHOUT AID OF U. S.

Chicago, June 4 (A.P.)—Should America withdraw its support from relief work now being carried on in Armenia, Greece and Syria among orphans and refugees, 30,000 children will starve and become petty thieves and beggars, said Dr. J. D. [illegible] of New York, in speaking today to a group of newspaper and magazine writers and representatives of the religious press. He said funds contributed by America have saved the lives of a million Armenians in Russian Armenia alone.

KING'S DOCTOR RAPS LIFE TAKING PACE OF TODAY

London, June 4 (A.P.)—King George's physician, Lord Dawson, of Penn, today added his voice to the increasing chorus of medical men on both sides of the Atlantic who are condemning the speed of modern life, in an address before the final scientific session of the Interstate Post-graduate Assembly, attended by 500 American and Canadian doctors.

One of the big problems of the future, Lord Dawson avowed, would be to prevent men of affairs from overworking, practically ending their lives at the height of their powers.

PART I.

By the wrecking or disablement of a railroad passenger car or street, elevated or underground railway car, passenger steamship or steamboat, in or on which the Insured is traveling as a fare-paying passenger.

PART II.

(a) By the wrecking or disablement of a taxicab, public omnibus or automobile stage, which is being driven or operated at the time of such wrecking or disablement by a licensed driver plying for public hire and in which the Insured is traveling as a fare-paying passenger; or

(b) By the wrecking or disablement of a private automobile or private horse-drawn vehicle of the exclusively pleasure type, provided that the Insured is not operating such automobile or vehicle while carrying passengers for hire or transporting merchandise for a business purpose and that such automobile or vehicle is not being used for a criminal purpose or to escape the consequences of an illegal or criminal use or arrest by vested authority; or

(c) By the wrecking or disablement of a passenger elevator provided for passenger service only and in which the Insured is being conveyed as a passenger.

PART III.

(a) By being struck, knocked down or run over while walking or standing on a public highway by a moving vehicle propelled by steam, cable, electricity, naphtha, gasoline, horse, compressed air or liquid power (excluding injuries sustained while on a railroad right of way, except an established crossing, or sustained while working on a public highway or railroad right of way); or

(b) By the collapse of the outer walls of a building while the Insured is therein (except a building in process of construction, repair or demolition); or

(c) By the burning of a church, theatre, library, school or municipal building in which the Insured shall be at the beginning of the fire; or

(d) By being struck by lightning, cyclone or tornado, as defined by the United States Weather Bureau.

Accidents are expensive, even if we are not permanently injured or killed. There are doctors' bills, nursing bills, loss of time from work — all are costly.

There is a $10.00 a week disability in this policy to cover such expenses for 15 consecutive weeks.

If the Unexpected DOES HAPPEN and You Hold One of These Policies, You or Your Family Will Receive These Cash Sums for Death or Dismemberment:

Death and Dismemberment Payments	If sustained in manner described in Part I	If sustained in manner described in Part II	If sustained in manner described in Part III

Armed Man Seized in Clash After Klan Meeting

Regiment That Produced 'Lost Battalion' Was Always Losing Itself, Says Bullard, in Telling of New York Troops

AS THESE are personal memoirs of Experiences, the pronoun "I" can never be out of sight. I am not offering these memories as absolute fact, but as my impression and belief at the time. —R. L. BULLARD.

Some of the distasteful incidents of the war—the summary treatment that had to be meted out to the dead-beats, the stragglers and the few criminals in the American Expeditionary Force, and some of the amusing incidents of the war—such as the habit of the New York troops of getting lost—are related in today's installment of Gen. Bullard's memoirs.

Dozen Yankees Executed in France

It was [illegible] the war [illegible] Congress [illegible] Easter [illegible] which our [illegible] martial executed [illegible] We executed perhaps a dozen [illegible] I was told scores. I doubt not that had we been so long in the war as they we [illegible] would have been reduced to a like necessity.

It is well for posterity to know that Americans were not all model soldiers, not all faithful. At the end of the war Paris was filled with American criminals and cried out about it. There was public denial in the United States and even from Paris, I believe, but Pr[illegible] knows the facts. They were there and remained there long after our armies had left France. [illegible]

HUB DRY AGENT REMOVED FROM OFFICE

John J. Stewart of Malden, a general prohibition agent today was removed from office by order of Commissioner David H. Blair of the Bureau of Internal Revenue at Washington.

Andrew B. Stroup, general prohibition agent for New England, [illegible] whose staff Stewart has been since last March, said Stewart was removed for making false statements on his application for employment.

Some time ago Stewart and others arrested Thomas H. Kearns of Raynham after seizing 204 cases of liquor and 900 gallons of alcohol from Kearns. At the trial Kearns' attorney offered evidence tending to show Stewart had been arrested in Dover, N. H. in 1913 for [illegible] and carrying a revolver and served a month in jail.

MILLIONAIRE IN $25,000 GEM THEFT SUIT

Buffalo, N. Y., June 4 (I.N.S.)—[illegible] has f[illegible] against Fred [illegible] Krocke [illegible] alleging that Krocke obtained $25,000 from him on representations that he would assist in recovering $265,000 worth of [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] [illegible] statements were false.

The complaint states that [illegible] after the theft of Mrs. [illegible] jewels [illegible] January, 1923, Krocke [illegible] had been arrested, [illegible] confessed to New York city police in which he said the robbery was a fake and that Mrs. S[illegible] was [illegible]

PROMOTER FITZSIMMONS AFTER TUNNEY'S SERVICES

Chicago, June 4 (AP).—Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter of the Michigan City Arena, before leaving to attend the Gibbons-Tunney match in New York, announced he would try to sign up Tunney, if he wins, for a match either July 4 or Labor Day. Tunney's opponent has not yet been chosen, he said.

Fitzsimmons said he hoped to arrange a match between Young Bob Fitzsimmons and Young Stribling of Georgia for the same card.

JEAN

TIPS are so much a matter of personal inclination that it is very difficult to advise when to give them or how much. While it is not by any means a universal custom to fee operators in a beauty shop, it is generally done. It is about as much expected, I think, as is the tip to the waiter or the fee to the Pullman porter. The amount depends on the [illegible]

Registered U. S. Patent Office

By Elsie Robinson

LAST night Margaret could not sleep very well, so she rose and wandered about her house.

The moonlight spread a glistening white over the garden. The [illegible] and slender blossoming fruit trees [illegible] like ornaments [illegible] platinum and jade.

[illegible] stood there motionless in the [illegible] space, their [illegible] looking on the moonlight as [illegible]. There was such peace [illegible] in Margaret's little garden.

[illegible] was such peace and beauty [illegible] Margaret's house.

[illegible] and [illegible] walked Margaret restless. Her husband slept quietly, and in another room her baby boy was a soft, crumpled heap within his crib.

Beauty and peace about her—love and friendliness. Everything seemingly one could desire. Health, youth, no [illegible] memories from the past, no dread of the days to come. And yet [illegible] was not happy.

LONELINESS TURNED IN HER LIKE A SWORD THRUST THROUGH HER HEART. LONELINESS LAY OVER ALL THE [illegible] AND BEAUTY LIKE A BLIGHT.

"I'm always lonely," Margaret cries. "No, I'm not melancholy. I'm the first one to laugh and start the fun. We always have a crowd at our house. Ever since I can remember I've had a host of friends. I love my husband and my family and they return my love. And yet—I'M LONELY. It's as if I had two selves—one of them laughing and mixing with the crowd, and the other one sitting apart, unsatisfied.

"And as the years go on it's worse. Sometimes I'm frightened. I don't dare talk about it for fear everyone will think I'm queer. Do you suppose I have some mental disease that will eventually drive me insane?"

No, you're not going insane, Margaret. You're just being human. We're all like that. We're all Two Selves. One Self works and plays, makes love and fights, goes on adventures, bustles about. And the other Self sits in the background LONELY, always longing for a peace and content which it never achieves—always seeking companionship it never finds, not even in the most dearly loved mate or child. Do you know that old verse?—

"Men are spirits clad in veils,
Man by man was never seen.
All our striving somehow fails
To lift that which lies between."

That verse isn't the cry of one individual Margaret. It is the cry of all humanity. We're all LONELY, and nothing in our human life [illegible] human possession ever eases that loneliness.

What is it? It is not the cry of our flesh. Our flesh is satisfied when it has food and drink, rest and exercise.

It cannot be the cry of our minds. Life gives our minds more food and exercise than they can well use. Any mind may find everlasting companionship in books and experiments. We may live as full and refreshing mental lives as we will. [illegible]

No, that cry does not come from body or mind. Neither flesh nor thought can answer it. IT IS THE CRY OF THE SOUL.

What is the Soul?

I do not know. No one knows.

But it is that something within us which reaches up—and out—which waits and hungers and hopes—which never lets us be content. It is that something which has goaded and haunted us from first beginning as men. It is like—

A VOICE CALLING, WHICH ONCE WE KNEW.

THE GLIMPSE OF A FACE WE ONCE LOVED.

THE MEMORY OF A HOME WHERE ONCE WE LIVED AND WHERE WE WOULD RETURN.

THE TOUCH OF A HAND WHICH ALONE CAN FULLY FEED AND COMFORT US.

It is all these things, and even more. And never, never does it pass from us until we die. And never does it leave us satisfied.

Perhaps it is the memory of the need for—GOD.

MRS. CHATTER AT CLUB

By Mary Steele

"I NEVER can remember what topic we are going to discuss until I see it on the platform. There it is in big letters, ART. I don't dare go home and tell Mr. Chatter we spent the whole afternoon talking about Art. He'd pick up his gun and say, 'What's this guy's last name?' Isn't he a scream?

"I wanted to go to the art museum the last time I was in New York, but there was a bargain sale that afternoon that I just couldn't miss. Pink silk hosiery for only 98 cents. Can you imagine that? But they faded the first time I washed them and I told Mr. Chatter I wish I had gone to the museum instead.

"But he said my idea of art was painting in a background with an eyebrow pencil. He says that if I spent as much time hand painting pictures as I do my face Rosa Bonheur and those dames would have to take a back seat.

"But I came back at him as quick as a flash. 'Well, at any rate, I don't use water colors,' I said, and he said, 'I guess you don't, as I haven't ever seen it all washed off, and anyway I'd hate to have to pay for all the soap it would take.' Isn't he a scream?

"Oh, yes, of course. I think Madonnas are beautiful and the poor dears are much more stylish since girls have begun parting their hair in the middle again. But I do love the pictures like 'The Kiss Eternal' and 'Hot Lips.' They are so romantic.

"I am very partial to landscapes, too. I have a lovely one in my dining room—a lovely red pear with green apples on a dark brown platter. It's lovely. Just the sight of it makes you hungry.

"There's Mrs. Grass. I'm surprised she's here. Her husband hasn't been dead over a month. She knows that being a blonde she looks well in black and I daresay they never will get her to take it off again. But don't worry, she never would have put it on if someone hadn't told her how becoming it was.

"Her hair may be gold, but it's not the kind of gold that pays your grocery bills. She goes around all the time with Mrs. De Luxe, who has more money than brains, but she could be a pauper and still be that way, as Mr. Chatter says.

"Land knows I'm no angel and I don't pretend to be. Even though I have had red wings put on my new hat, but I certainly don't talk about folks the way she does.

"Oh, I got an adorable pair of shoes yesterday—brown kid with alligator. They do pinch my toes dreadfully, but they were so good-looking that I simply had to have them. Mr. Chatter calls them my 'Corn Crib.' Isn't he a scream?"

That's Right

When flappers say you try to warn
That paint and powder are mere dross,
They laugh at you with deadly scorn;
Then gently murmur "Applesauce!"

MEDBURY SAYS

By John P. Medbury

THE life guards at the different beaches have formed an organization and made new rules. Hereafter no girl can be saved more than three times a week.

THIS will give all the women an equal chance to be rescued.

IN the future the guards won't be allowed to show any preference. Last year they got in the habit of saving the pretty girls and throwing the homely ones back.

CALLS for help will be answered in rotation.

IF a woman wants to sink she'll have to take her turn.

OF course it's only natural that homely dames have to holler louder than the beautiful ones.

ONE pretty dame hollered for help and a life guard swam right out to her. She told him to go back, she wanted to be saved by the blond fellow.

HE told her that the blond fellow was busy. She said "All right, I'll wait."

SHE was so anxious to be rescued by the handsome life guard that she postponed her drowning for fifteen minutes.

AS soon as he got through with his work she began sinking again.

HE paid no attention to her. He was too busy rescuing brunettes.

SHE had to go home and dye her hair before she could get any service.

THE life guard couldn't have shown less interest if he had been married to her.

ONE dame called for help and when the guard got out to her she asked him to see if her bathing cap was on straight.

THE average girl wouldn't think of calling for help without first powdering her nose.

SHE wants to look presentable to the man who's saving her.

SHE'D rather drown than have him see her nose when it was shiny.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With Othine—Double Strength

This preparation for the removal of freckles is so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by all drug and department stores with a guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil or waste time on lemon juice or cucumbers; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on money-back guarantee.

We recommend Othine Complexion Soap for use with Othine, also as a shampoo — it's wonderful for bobbed hair — 25c a cake at all drug or department stores or by mail. Othine Laboratories, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

OTHINE

LITTLE GIRL DRUDGES

By Lucy Lowell

AFTER all, she was only twelve years old. And lonesome.

She's another of the children, you see, who took over mother's job when mother laid it down to go on a very long journey.

Father was very kind, of course. But she didn't see him much. He'd leave the house early in the morning for his work in the city across the river.

And then she'd sweep and dust and iron and darn. After which it was time to get supper.

"How's my little housekeeper?" Father'd ask when he came home. And she'd say, "All right," shyly. For you can't be so very chummy with some one you don't see often.

And he'd look at her sharply and see that she looked well. So he'd decide to put off "making some arrangement about things" until another day.

But the house took on a strange look as the weeks went along. It began to seem sort of bare and cheerless. He was puzzled. Then he was worried.

He couldn't find the wicker rocker that always had stood by the table in the living room. Curious where it would be. He intended to ask Caroline, but she always seemed to be busy when he was around.

Something happened to the dining room. That familiar room suddenly became as unfamiliar as if he'd never seen it before. He puzzled for ever so long. Then he saw the blank space over the mantel, where the big deer's head had hung.

So it went on, with Caroline growing shyer and busier all the time, and Father more bewildered. And one day he missed his bedroom slippers.

Then he did what he should have done long before. He called his daughter in for a conference. Had she taken things out of the house? Yes, she had. But why? What had she done with them? Oh, she'd just sold them!

She told her story. She had sold the wicker rocker for a nickel. A neighbor bought it after she had explained that they were moving away and wanted to dispose of things in a hurry. The deer's head brought thirty cents from a pleased purchaser. Some pieces of cut glass sold for more than that, and there was the clock and some books and the electric radiator and the rugs and the clothes from her bed.

She had just about cleaned out the house, in fact. She wanted money for lollypops and to go to the movies. She was sorta lonesome. Oh, did father really feel badly? She was dreadfully sorry. Indeed, she cried bitterly for having caused him trouble.

Most of the things Caroline sold were returned to Father, with the help of the police. And everybody went around saying, "What a terrible child!"

But she isn't a terrible child. She is just a little victim of circumstances, as are all child drudges.

If you'd like to help the poor little, hapless clan, why not "adopt" the little drudge who lives nearest you—next door or in the next block—and cheer up him or her with the price of a movie or a smile and some pleasant words once in a while?

A HARE'S HAIRBREADTH ESCAPE

By Foxy Grandpa

"WHAT a beautiful spot this is," I exclaimed as the Welshman tied up the boat in which he had rowed us a mile across the bay from the coast of Wales to a tiny island where he had a house.

"Yes," he replied, "I think you will enjoy a few days here. We are pretty well out of the world and there is very good fishing."

The days passed very pleasantly. Bobby and Bunny had great fun exploring the small island and pretending that Bobby was Robinson Crusoe and Bunny his good man Friday. Bobby had started to build a shack down on the beach in a sheltered cove, so you may know they were having a good time.

One evening as we were going to bed Bobby said:

"Strange thing about this island. There are plenty of birds, but we haven't seen one animal."

But, as it happened, we did see an animal, and in what a strange way it was! I will tell you.

I had walked down to the beach to see the progress on the hut which Bobby was building, and as I sat there I looked out to sea. It was a quiet day. There was hardly a ripple on the water.

All at once, however, I saw a black spot a few hundred yards from shore, and Bunny saw it at the same time.

"Man swimming?" asked Bobby, excitedly.

"Don't think so," said Bunny, and his ears stood up very erectly.

We waited breathlessly. The spot grew larger as it came nearer.

"Animal," said Bunny decisively.

"But there are no animals on this island," said Bobby.

"He's coming from the mainland," declared Bunny.

"What do you think it means, Bunny?" I asked.

"There's been some trouble," was all that Bunny would volunteer.

"He's going to land right here," ventured Bobby. "Why, it's a big hare!"

Bunny dashed to the water's edge and I saw at once that he and the hare were in silent conversation. They talked for a while and then Bunny returned to us.

"What is it all about?" I asked impatiently.

"He had a narrow escape," said Bunny. "A pack of hounds got after him. He couldn't back-track to lose them. They even followed him across a stream. Finally there was nothing to do but for the poor fellow to swim for it."

"Do you mean to tell me that that hare has swum the mile across here, Bunny?" I gasped.

"I do, Foxy Grandpa; you know you never know what you can do until you are put to it—like that dog that climbed the tree when the bear was after him."

TWICE IN THIS WOMAN'S LIFE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her from Sickness to Health

Ellensburg, Washington — "When I was first coming into womanhood I suffered terribly every month. My mother did everything she could think of, so she took me to several doctors and they only helped me a little. Mother was talking to another lady about my condition and she told mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mother got me six bottles and at the end of the first month I was much better, so I kept on taking it until I had no more pains. When I got married and had my first child I was in terrible pain so that it was impossible for me to do my housework. I thought of how the Vegetable Compound had been of so much benefit to me when I was a girl, so I went to Perier's Drug-Store and got six bottles. It sure did help me and I still take it. I am a well woman today and I can't say too much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will answer any letter that comes to me to answer about what your medicine has done for me." —Mrs. WILLIAM CARVER, R. F. D. No. 2, Ellensburg, Wash.

ECONOMY PLAN IS IN EFFECT ON B. & M.

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

President Hustis of the Boston & Maine has another economy plan in operation. This is in the freight service. Daily two fast freights are run between Boston and Portland and make the run in four hours. These freights are extras and the purpose of getting them to the destination point, Rigby Terminal, in quick time, is for the purpose of making delivery of the trains, or part of them, to the Maine Central system to save demurrage charges. These cars landed at the connecting point, Portland, before midnight saves a tax of $10 each payable to the lines owning the cars.

John D. Ryan, chairman of Anaconda, remains optimistic on the copper situation. "I expect all important copper companies to make a better showing this year than they did last," he declares, adding his belief that general business will continue good throughout the current year.

Copper prices are about a cent a pound above those prevailing a year ago and have been holding reasonably steady since 1925 came in. Nevertheless the red metal is not yet sufficiently high to enable all our mines to operate at a profit. The proposed copper tariff is sadly needed to help our higher-cost producers ward off foreign competition and to conserve our own red metal resources.

President Raymond B. Cox of the Webster and Atlas National Bank says: "A man who keeps a store can sell you a five-dollar article and make you feel pleased about his service, even if he never sells you another dollar's worth. But the banker with whom you open a five dollar account has only laid the foundation for serving you, and unless you and he both build on that foundation, his service to you can never be completed."

President Cox tells depositors: "When your savings account was opened you and this bank joined hands to accomplish a result. That result was the steady building, a little at a time, of a worth-while sum of money, safely deposited in your name, ready for your use at need and steadily drawing interest for you until you needed it. Our part of the job lay in perfect safety, accurate business system, convenience for the reception of small sums or large ones on any and every business day, and a cordial welcome for you whenever you called on us. We want to do our part to the fullest of our ability. But how can we do it unless we see you often?"

WOOLEN SHOWS SLIGHT PROFIT

Directors of American Woolen Co. did the expected in ordering the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock. Semi-official statements of such an intention were made about a month ago when the stock dropped below 70.

As a matter of fact, Pres. A. G. Pierce in the 1924 annual report went out of his way to outline the probable attitude of directors toward the preferred stock in the light of a possible continuation of last year's depression in the industry. At that time he said: "Full payments have been maintained upon the preferred stock. This issue has never omitted a dividend since the organization of the company and this record, together with the wide distribution of stock, will always prompt directors to safeguard its position jealously."

There is nothing new in the affairs of the company. Whatever change may have occurred in recent weeks, however, has been for the better. That is to say, wool prices have rallied somewhat, and there is, possibly, a shade better tone to the goods markets. Manufacturing operations are still averaging well over 60 per cent capacity.

Company is likely to show a modest operating profit the first half-year, but not sufficient to cover the preferred dividends. It is an interesting fact that American Woolen almost invariably develops its earning power, in good or bad years, in the second six months and it will be interesting to see if precedent is followed this year.

AGENTS TO SEE SCENIC FILM

Unusual scenes in California will be featured in movies at the meeting of the Association of Railroad and Steamship Agents of Boston, at the American House tomorrow evening.

Four reels of scenic California will be shown. One shows the territory north of San Francisco, including Mt. Shasta, Lassen Peak, the geysers, petrified forest and redwoods; another the region south and east of San Francisco, including the "mother lode country," Sequoia and Gen. Grant National Parks, and the Pinnacles National Monument, Yosemite, Lake Tahoe, and the mountain country.

Explanatory comments will be made by Col. Charles A. Simmons of San Francisco.

STANDARD OIL ISSUES NEW AUTO TOUR GUIDE

Every motorist will want a copy of the new "Historic Tours" just published by the Standard Oil Company.

This is a cross between a guide book and a route book, pointing out beauties along the famous routes and retelling something of the history of the country passed through. The territory covered includes all the New England States and also New York and touches particularly on the Albany Post Road, Historic Boston Post Road, the Shore Road of Connecticut, Along the Shore of Cape Cod and a trip through Maine and New Hampshire.

STOCK TRANSACTIONS ARE AT RECORD LEVEL

Transactions in stocks on the New York Stock Exchange during the first five months of 1925 aggregated 175,652,800 shares, a monthly average of 35,130,560 shares. At this rate total transactions for 1925 would reach 421,566,720 shares, exceeding any former year in the history of the exchange. Only in one previous year, 1919, did the figures exceed 300,000,000 shares.

Franc at New Low

Heavy increases in the French note circulation and bank advances to the state was followed by a 5-point break in the franc to a new low for the year at 4.91 cents.

Sports Feature Atlantic Liner Program

While lower fares are largely accountable for the record-breaking tourist rush to Europe this season, another factor which has induced many to make the ocean voyage is the pleasure of the trip itself.

In place of the old-time concert, an excellent vaudeville entertainment is given on some of the Royal Mail liners by members of each ship's company.

Sporting contests provide much entertainment. Early on the voyage a sports committee is appointed and prizes are offered in wheelbarrow races, bottle races, the tug-of-war and spar boxing.

SAVANNAH SEA TRIP IS DELIGHTFUL 10 DAYS

The all-expense tours from Boston and New York to Savannah and return which are offered by the Ocean Steamship Company of Savannah are becoming more and more popular. By "all-expense" is meant transportation, meals and stateroom accommodation aboard ship while at sea, also passenger of baggage transfer, hotel accommodations including meals and automobile sightseeing trips in Savannah.

All-expense tours from Boston range from $81.50 to $92.50 according to the accommodations desired.

Leaving Boston at 3 p. m. Tuesday you are in Savannah at 6 a. m. on Saturday. Leaving Savannah Monday at 3 p. m. you are in Boston Friday at 6 a. m. The round trip rate from Boston to Savannah, not including hotel accommodations in the city is $67.83.

GOOD BATHING BEGINS EARLY AT FALMOUTH

Only seventy-five miles from Boston, at Falmouth, Mass., a number of bathers went for a swim at the Casino Beach last Sunday and the temperature of the water was just 66 degrees, warmer than it will be at any time during the Summer on the North Shore.

The combination of this fine bathing beach, warm water and the good food that may be had at Terrace Gables, makes Falmouth an ideal spot to spend your week-end.

CAPE HOTEL IS DINNER HOST

Friendship lodge at West Dennis, Mass., has just been opened for the season and the occasion was celebrated by a dinner given by Manager A. P. Bennett to his friends and members of the Cape Cod Hotel Men's Association.

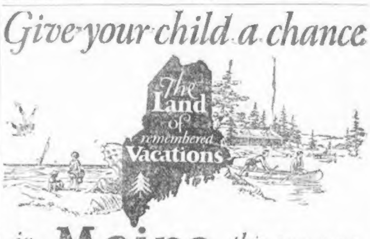
This is one of the houses you will not want to overlook when touring the Cape or in considering your vacation plans.

PHILADELPHIA PLANS FOR 1926 EXPOSITION

On July 4, 1926, the Sesqui-Centennial exposition will be held at Philadelphia to celebrate America's century and a half of independent existence.

The celebration promises to rival in interest the famous exposition in Philadelphia nearly fifty years ago, when the first century of the nation's life was rounded out.

Colonel David C. Collier, who managed the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco during 1914-15, is director-general of the exposition.



Give your child a chance

The Land of remembered Vacations

in Maine this summer

GET your children away from the restraint and stale diversions of artificial city life. Give them the priceless benefits of a normal out-of-door vacation at one of the boys' or girls' camps in Maine, where well-directed sport, good food, invigorating air and sound sleep will lay the foundation for enduring health. Costs are moderate.

Or take the whole family to Maine, where you can fish, motor, swim, play golf, enjoy any sport you choose—or just loaf in this enchanting vacationland.

There are Maine hotels, camps, farms, to suit every vacation budget. Some weekly rates as low as $15.00. Mail the coupon and let us help you plan the kind of vacation you want.

FOR superior quality buy Maine potatoes, apples, canned products; when in Maine investigate her agricultural and industrial possibilities. Information on request.

Shooting the Rapids

Quicken Your Pulse With the Thrill of the Rapids

FOR more than three hundred years the River St. Lawrence, between Lake Ontario and the Island of Montreal, has been the highway of adventure. The stolid and unemotional redskin, bound for the annual fur-market at Montreal, shouted with exultation as his birch canoe leaped to the thunderous surges of the Lachine Rapids. The Jesuits of the Huron Missions, returning from some lonely outpost of God in the wilderness, sang Te Deum to the sonorous accompaniment of its tempestuous waters. Lord Amherst's British battalions advancing to the conquest of Quebec, all contended with the stupendous might of the rapids, and felt the thrill of triumph in their swift, tumultuous descent.

You too may feel it—in perfect comfort and safety, from the deck of a modern steamship of the Canada Steamship Lines. The route is through the enchanted playground of the Thousand Islands, descending the mighty rapids and onward to Montreal, Quebec and the stupendous Saguenay, with its Capes Trinity and Eternity higher than Gibraltar. It is indeed a voyage of adventure into the land of a romantic yesterday.

You can begin your journey at Niagara Falls, Toronto, Rochester, Alexandria Bay, Clayton, Montreal or Quebec, and return the same way; arranging your trip so as to stop off a day at the important points without having to worry about hotel accommodations.

For full information, booklets, etc., address Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., 216 Old South Bldg., Boston, Mass. (telephone Congress 281) or John F. Pierce, P. T. M., Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., 23a C. S. L. Bldg., Montreal, Can., or any railroad or tourist ticket agent.

FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

Are most of those who have made big marks in the business and financial world big men or little men physically?

Does size have anything to do with success?

Let's see.

John D. Rockefeller is tall rather than short. Henry Ford comes under the same classification. Judge Gary is not a little man, while James A. Farrell, president of the Steel Corporation, is a veritable giant. Charles M. Schwab is over, rather than under, average size. Owen D. Young is of the Ford type, tall and lanky.

The most famous banker America has thus far produced was of a very powerful build, namely J. P. Morgan. The most famous of our living bankers, George F. Baker, is a handsome physical specimen, far above the ordinary height.

Their intimate crony, James J. Hill, was not a little fellow by any means. Nor was George Westinghouse. Frank A. Vanderlip, in his active business days, was a striking specimen of manhood. His sucessor as head of the largest financial institution in America, Charles E. Mitchell, is above medium height.

Other bankers who fall under this head include Seward Prosser, Albert H. Wiggin, Percy H. Johnston, Louis Kaufman, Samuel McRoberts, Charles H. Sabin, J. P. Morgan, Henry M. Robinson, Festus J. Wade, Walter W. Head, James H. Perkins, Edward R. Stettinius.

Among notable industrial leaders who come under the classification of tall rather than short are James B. Duke, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., C. A. Coffin, Walter C. Teagle, A. C. Bedford, Charles B. Seger, Thomas E. Wilson, Harry B. Thayer, Louis Swift, John D. Ryan, William H. Nichols, Thomas A. Edison, William Randolph Hearst, Robert Dollar, Kenneth R. Kingsberry, Irving T. Bush, Samuel Vauclain.

The public utility field is notable fir the stature of the majority of its leaders. The list includes Sidney Z. Mitchell, Wigginton E. Creed, John B. Miller, George B. Cortelyou, Samuel Insull, General Tripp, Joseph McCall, Charles Edgar, W. W. Freeman, A. W. Thompson, Franklin T. Griffith, A. W. Leonard, Henry L. Doherty, Arthur Huntington, M. S. Sloan, Arthur Williams, T. A. Mitten, Lewis Egan, Frank L. Dame.

* * *

Turning to notables who do not come under the classification of big men, among those who spring to mind are Andrew Carnegie, H. C. Frick, John Wanamaker, E. H. Harriman, James Speyer, Clarence Dillon, Thomas W. Lamont, Otto J. Kahn, Herbert Fleishhacker, Dwight W. Morrow, Gerald Swope, John G. Shedd, J. Ogden Armour, Edward L. Doheny, George Eastman, Eugene G. Grace, Charles A. Stone, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, R. S. Hecht, John N. Willys, W. C. Durant, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Edward A. Filene, George M. Verity, Paul M. Warburg, Harry Bassett.

After all, of course, it is the size of a man's brain and the use he makes of it rather than the size of his body that determine his place in the world.

Bringing 'Over There' Home

Invitation to "Y. D." Veterans and Their A. E. F. Comrades to Discuss General Bullard's Memoirs

Are you reading General Bullard's memoirs of his personal experiences "Over There" which are appearing daily in the Boston Evening American?

Unless you are you are out of step with the vast majority of veterans hereabouts. For the maker of this editorial has not met a veteran of the A. E. F. within the last fortnight who is not refreshing his own recollections of the great conflict by reading what the commander of the First Division has to offer, not "as absolute fact," but as his "impression and belief at the time."

Whether you agree or disagree with General Bullard if you were "Over There" you cannot afford to let him tell his story without "listening in." If you were not with the Colors, or did not see service overseas you ought to be unwilling, if you are an American citizen, to turn a deaf ear to what the witnesses are now willing to tell their countrymen regarding the contribution of the United States toward the winning of the war.

Already the criticisms made by General Bullard of other divisions and other divisional commanders have whetted the interest of the readers of this newspaper in his serial.

Veterans have been quick to see that this newspaper assumes no responsibility whatsoever for General Bullard's statements, the nature of his conclusions, or the merits of his comment on events in which he participated or regarding which he formed an impression. His Memoirs are "news" and this newspaper is so publishing them, and is glad to be able to give its readers his book in serial form.

To the end that this interesting story of the Great War may bring to light facts, and conclusions and impressions from the officers and men not only of the First Division, but also from those who served with the other divisions of the A. E. F., the Boston Evening American has thrown open its columns to all the veterans of the war. If they will "check up" each day on General Bullard's story and get into the discussion by addressing their own comments to this newspaper, American history will be the gainer.

For the most interesting portions of this correspondence will be published, and the entire correspondence will be preserved for the use of other veterans who may follow the example of General Bullard and put on paper their own memories of "The Adventure of the Age."

Altogether too little has been told the American people about the decisive part played by their own flesh and blood in the Great War. This is because their defenders with the Colors, officers and men alike, with few exceptions, have been altogether too modest in regard to the American version of "Over There."

By reading General Bullard's story from day to day and the rejoinders which his impressions are inspiring, the readers of the Boston Evening American can give to themselves a daily lesson in the latest chapters of American history.

By getting into the discussion of General Bullard's Memoirs, the veterans of the New England States can make most helpful contributions to these latest chapters of American history.

Read "With Bullard in the World War" every evening in this newspaper and when you have something to say by way of correction, corroboration, or comment, favorable or unfavorable, write a letter to the Editor of the Boston Evening American, Winthrop square, Boston, without delay.

American memories of the Great War, as written by the officers and men who fought it to a victorious finish under the Stars and Stripes, will help to bring "Over There" home to the hearts of the American people.

And "from the altar of our hearts" the flame of American patriotism will rise the higher.

Straight Talk on Europe's Debts to U. S.

Next to his honesty, the element in President Coolidge which most favorably impresses his country is his common sense.

Common sense is the ability to see things as they are, to think straight and to avoid becoming intoxicated on the irrelevant.

Nowhere has the President's ability to X-ray a situation been more striking and more valuable to his country than in this foreign debt matter, in which he has called foreign debtors back to common honesty and the United States back to common sanity.

Never has the psychology of habit been more forcibly demonstrated. We have been helping Europe so long that the giving posture has become almost fixed with us, as the hod carrier becomes stooped. We thank President Coolidge for giving us once more the benefit of his common sense in his Memorial Day address.

We commend to the deliberations of those vicarious philanthropists who wish to make the United States the everlasting caddy of the Old World the sensible words of their President:

> A large amount of work has to be done at home before we can start in on our neighbors, and very considerable duties have to be performed in America before we undertake the correction of the rest of the world.

The only action which can be effective in the long run, the President asserted, "is that which helps others to help themselves."

Most of the Old World laughs at us for what we have done. Lloyd George told the truth when, speaking of our recent allies, he says that payment of their debts never was in their reckoning and that their budgets were invariably based on the assumption that Germany must and would pay her obligations, but that they would not be called on to discharge their own obligations to their creditors.

As has been repeatedly pointed out in these columns, Lloyd George calls attention to the fact that whenever payment is suggested to France, France proposes a conversation about it. And if the proposal that she pay assumes the form of impatience, France exclaims, "On with the settlement. Let talk be unconfined!"

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS--

By Helen Rowland

THINK ye, oh ye sons and daughters of Babylon, that ye can live without LOVE?

For the fool hath said in his heart: "Verily, verily, this is the Golden Age of Reason! Money ruleth the world, and the flesh-pots satisfy the spirit, and the Tender Passion is as yesterday's hand painted lambrequins, obsolete and a thing for laughter!"

Helen Rowland

Go to, ye Simple Ones. As a dance without music, as music without a tune, as a poem without rhyme or rhythm, so is a world without love—possible, but NOT endurable!

Love—the Beautifier, which gildeth the sunset—turneth a dull, grey world to rose color; brighteneth a rainy day; lendeth glory to the moon, and putteth loveliness into a plain face.

Love—the Rejuvenator, which maketh old eyes to sparkle with youth, lighteth up the smile, removeth wrinkles from the brow, painteth roses on the cheek and curveth the lips with laughter.

Love—the Stimulant, which awakeneth sleeping ideals, stirreth the aspiration, driveth away boredom, giveth courage to the faint-hearted and inspireth the laggard to high achievements!

Love—the Anaesthetic, which comforteth the sorrowing and maketh thee to forget poverty, to smile at failure and to live on through vicissitudes in the radiance of dreams.

Love—the Inspiration, which stimulateth the imagination, arouseth the voice of the singer, stirreth the heart of the poet and maketh the painter to see visions!

Love—the carbureter, the amplifier, the radio, the wireless, without which the world would soon "go dead," and all life be duller than an uplift lecture, flatter than last year's tires nad more wearisome than house cleaning day in the suburbs!

Go to, ye Simple Ones!

Peradventure, we may live without love—but, WHO, in all the world would CARE to?

SELAH.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

What Is Wrong With N. E.

Editor Boston Evening American:

Because yours is the only paper that hits the bullseye, whether the bull likes it or not, I am going to tell you what I think is wrong with New England.

FIRST—The large State income tax, almost as large as the Federal. The growing up-to-date States have no State tax.

SECOND—The personal tax. Well, what other city has a tax on your bed?

THIRD—Living expenses. Compare rents, meats, vegetables, carfares, with any other city anywhere near its size.

The other places are bidding. New England is forcing people away.

Brookline. JNO. CEECEE.

ONCE-OVERS

LIKE A STONE WALL, WISE PARENTS STAND IMMOVABLE WHERE THEIR CHILDREN'S WELFARE IS CONCERNED

If you are a mother or a father you must be a stone wall.

And being a stone wall is not necessarily being hard-hearted.

Being a stone wall is to be able to turn your children absolutely and unflinchingly toward the right.

Have you the moral stamina to be a stone wall to all your dear one's coaxing for something which you know it were better not to do?

If you are a gardner or a lover of flowers perhaps you may have noticed that rhubarb and lilies of the valley grow best and largest when growing up against a wall.

That wall is a protection, to be sure, but it is unyielding.

The more unyielding, the greater the impetus, in the opposite direction, when the roots strike the stone wall.

Modest, low growing, gentle little pansies and violets need open spaces, sunshine, coaxing, but the up-standing plant needs the urge to grow.

THE HELPING HAND

Letters Not Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls or Anonymous Letters. No Names Published.

Need Clothing and Shoes

Helping Hand Editor:

There are six children in our family, girls, 14, 12, 9, 6 and baby 21 months old and brother 15. We need clothing of all kinds and the baby needs shoes. My mother wears size 36 and father 38. My father has not worked for six months. He is a cigarmaker. Please help us.

ELIZABETH.

Asks Help for Mother

Helping Hand Editor:

Could you help my mother? There are three children, girls 16 and 13 and boy 14. Brother needs shoes, size 13 and sister, size 11, myself, size 4½. My father died five years ago and my mother is sickly, so I can't work. Mother needs a dress, size 40, and shoes, size 5. We get only $10 a week from the city.

MARY.

Wife and Two Children

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a married man with a wife and two children and have been out of work for the past five weeks and it seems as if it is impossible to get a position. I have worked at the grocery business and fruit line, but will take anything. I am a clean, neat appearing mna. I hope someone will give me work. P. J. W.

Other Requests

Mrs. H. appeals for employment for a very worthy American man father of two children—who has not been able to get work since January. They are greatly in need. Would like janitor work, but will do anything.

Mrs. J. G. K. will give a good home, clothes and spending money to a motherless girl 15 or 16, or one in need of a home—for care of her children while out in the country. LOWELL.

Mrs. P. O. would like a place as mother's helper or do light housework where she can have her baby with her. Country preferred.

Mrs. H. A. would appreciate a black dress and coat, size 38 or 40. Husband met with accidental death and left her without anything, as he was without work for a long time.

Kathryn, 12, asks for coat, hat and dress and shoes, size 2. Ashamed to go to church on Sunday. Mother would like to get some work, house cleaning.

Mrs. H. J. would be thankful for a stroller for little boy not able to walk.

Mrs. D. H. P., whose husband is ill, would like to find work on a farm or at a beach where she can have her two children with her.

Mrs. A. E., whose husband is in the hospital, asks for a stroller for her baby. Wants to take the baby to se its father and cannot carry him.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

FRET not because the role you play is small, an inconsidered, soon-forgotten part; fret not because the victor's laurels fall to one who is a master of his art. In truth, the world may never know your face, may never heed your thirst for fame's sweet wine, and with your passing you may leave no place, no deathless glory and no empty shrine. For you alone was this appointed task, this time, this place through ages waited you, and, all regardless of the lot you ask, you find the labor that is yours to do. Another man may do a greater deed (for some the conquest, some the cross have known), but it is yours to meet with pride this need, to do this task which waits for you alone.

WIDE USE MADE OF METRIC SYSTEM

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IT is to be wondered how many people know that there are only two nations in the world that have not adopted the metric system.

These two nations are Great Britain and the United States.

In some respects the United States and Great Britain are the most advanced of peoples. Their intelligence ranks high and their enterprise and adventure are great.

It is remarkable, therefore, that these are the only two nations that have refused to adopt a system that has every argument of uniformity in its favor.

The metric system is now used almost entirely in science, including physics, chemistry, dietetics, and so on.

It is in use exclusively in many hospitals.

Many factories make use of it, such as the Waltham Watch Company, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, the Bakelite Corporation, the De Laval Separator Company, and others. It is used in the jewelry industry, and also the optical industry.

It is employed by athletes in preparing for the Olympic games.

It is used to measure the wave lengths in radio.

There is no particular reason why it should not be used everywhere except that it is opposed by our antiquated customs.

We have been steadily overcoming this reactionism, as the metric system of weights and measures was made legal in 1866 by Congress, and since then it has been employed in coinage and in medical work in the Army and Navy; also in the Public Health Service.

Science is one of the kingdoms that knows no boundaries. Measurements ought to be the same, whether in Timbuktu or New York, and it is hard to find anybody outside of Great Britain that still contends that there is any use in holding on to the old system of pounds, shillings and pence. Our system of pounds, ounces and grams is almost as senseless as the money system of Great Britain.

It makes no difference what the basis of a system is, or whether the meter is accurate or not. The point is to get hold of some system that people can use in all countries.

It looks as if since the experience of mankind has made fifty-four or fifty-five nations adopt this system and only two stand out against it, it is a pretty clear case that the system is practical.

THE YEARS OF MAN ON THIS EARTH

By GARRET P. SERVISS.

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

MANY readers must be confused by the variety of estimates made by experts of the number of years or centuries that have elapsed since primeval man left the first marks of his presence on this planet.

Thus Dr. Abel, the discoverer of a great collection of bones and other remains associated with the skeletons of "Neanderthal men" in the vast caves at Mixnitz, Austria, fixes their date at 250,000 years ago.

But according to such well-known authorities as H. F. Osborn and C. A. Reeds even the earliest type of the Neanderthal race does not antedate 50,000 or at the most 75,000 years.

In a comparative table published in Osborn's "Men of the Old Stone Age" so great an age as 250,000 years is not ascribed to any form of man later than the "Heidelbergs," who are called "the first human race recorded in western Europe," and are said to have appeared in northern Germany early in Second Interglacial times, which are supposed to have extended from 200,000 back to 350,000 years ago.

Beyond the Heidelbergs is placed the Javan pithecanthropus, who distinguished himself by having a human-like tooth, in the First Interglacial period, which is estimated as having occurred about half a million years ago.

And lately we have seen the arrival, out of the mists behind the extremest date ascribed to any form of primitive man, of the African australopithecus, bearing the provisional date of a million years, which, in Osborn and Reeds' table, would be back of the First Glacial period itself and within the limits of the pre-glacial Pliocene, the last stage of the Tertiary age.

As to the time estimates, in measures of years or centuries, some of them say, in one breath, that trustworthy grounds for making such estimates do not exist, and in the next breath, nevertheless, proceed to make them.

If all these estimates were in substantial agreement no confusion would exist. But when one authority ascribes to the Neanderthals (who have been so thoroughly investigated that they may be said to be, in a sense, well known) an antiquity three or four times as great as another authority is willing to concede, the "common man"—for whom all the authorities have a secret respect which they only now and then acknowledge—is entirely excusable if he concludes that it is "pretty much guesswork, anyway."

And in this there is considerable sting because there is considerable truth. In fact, the process by which geological time estimates are made resembles the method of the botanist when he estimates the age of an ancient tree by counting the rings of growth in its trunk.

He is able to correlate these with definite lapses of time, because observation has convinced him that in each period of a year a certain average addition is made to the diameter of the tree stem.

But the data which the geologist or paleontologist has to use are often very uncertain and unreliable. Even the time gauge furnished by the yearly rate of retreat of the rocky verge of Niagara Falls has not been found entirely trustworthy.

When all allowances are made, however, and when too much stress is not laid upon the number of centuries involved, we may feel sure that, on the whole, we are safe in attributing to our race an antiquity of at least a quarter of million years, counting from the appearance of the first distinctively human attributes.

Talk on Europe's Debts

France could pay, but she does not want to pay. She prefers to spend her money for imperialistic joy rides, her military establishment being greater now than that of Great Britain, Japan and America combined!

As was so ably shown by Senator Borah, France enjoys a great prosperity and has a tax rate less than half of our own.

In all dealings between men, when one seeks to proceed on the theory that the other is a near-wit—one who cannot take care of himself—the first thing the one thus complimented must do is to brush away all notions that he is an imbecile and compel the other to adopt another hypothesis.

So in this European debt matter, America owed it to herself to let Europe know that America understood her perfectly.

President Coolidge did this signal service for America when he told Europe she had to pay, and he is justly impatient because foolish Americans, sojourning in the midst of our debtors, have presumed to tell those debtors that the United States doesn't mean what she says.

These gentlemen may speak for themselves, but they do not speak for the people of the United States.

And President Coolidge does!
